Howard A. Lewis, Civic Leader, Dies

Retired Industrialist Served Kingston As Urban Renewal Adviser, in C of C

A man with an outstanding record of achievement in industry and in his adopted community, Howard Augustus Lewis of 12 West Chestnut Street, died early today at Benedictine Hospital. He was 72.

Since his semi-retirement about seven years ago, he had directed his talents, time and energy for the causes of Kingston, Ulster County and the Hudson Valley.

He was a prominent director of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and a director of Empire State Chamber of Commerce, a position he held for several years.

Promoted Area

Mr. Lewis was currently serving as chairman of the local tourist trade in this area.

In his civic life, he served as chairman of the local Executive Advisory Committee on Urban Renewal since his appointment by Mayor John J. Schwenk in 1962.

He retired seven years ago as vice president and treasurer of American Motor Sales Corp. and served in those capacities when the firm operated under Kelvinator and Nash Motors.

Although semi-retired from

active business, his directorships of several corporations took him to many parts of the world.

He served as director of the following corporations:

Ranco Inc., Columbus, Ohio; Ironrite Inc., Mt. Clems, Mich.; Kelvinator of Canada Ltd., Toronto; Austrailian Controls Ltd., Melbourne; Ranco Ltd., Glasgow, Scotland and Ranco Italiano, Milan, Italy.

Leading Industrialist

While attending Leland Stanford University, he entered the appliance field and came to New York in 1911 introducing Hot Point electric irons. He went to England with the same irons and other electrical appliances in 1914. He later entered the publishing field with McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. In 1926 he went with Kelvinator Corp., where he was elected treasurer in 1928. When Kelvinator and Nash Motors merged in 1937, Mr. Lewis became treasurer of the new corporation. He played a leading role in the financing involved in the merger and in 1939 was elected vice president.

A native of Fairbault, Minn., he spent his early years in Ontario, Calif. His grandfather, Augustus Bossuet was a 49er.

Became Kingstonian

He showed his early interest in fruit farming, when in 1918 he purchased a farm in Flatbush and cultivated an apple orchard. After the farm burned, he came to Kingston and lived in this city for approximately 35 years. He continued his membership in Flatbush Reformed Church.

Mr. Lewis was prominent as a director of the Hudson River Conservation Society and served as Ulster County chairman of this group. He was a trustee of Kingston City Library and a member of the Union League Club of New York City.

His interest in fruit farming and the development of his community, caused him to organize and sponsor the first Apple Blossom Festival in 1938 to publicize Kingston, Ulster County and the Hudson Valley. The last festival of the early series was held in 1941 and thereafter was abandoned because of World War II.

Mr. Lewis was an official representative of Kingston at the 300th anniversary celebration of the founding of Cape Town, South Africa on April 5, 1952.

Funeral services will be held at Flatbush Reformed Church, Route 32, Town of Saugerties, Saturday at 2 p. m. The Rev. George Wood, pastor, will conduct the service.

Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery. There will be no calling hours.

Surviving are his wife, the Union Out Against 75-Cent Hour

Employment of young persons in stores at 75 cents an hour, as recently proposed by Louis W. Kaye, local merchant, is opposed by Local 186, Amalgmated Clothing Workers of America, The Freeman was told by letter today.

Mrs. Rita Ward, of 126 West Pierpont Street, the local's business agent, in a letter dated Tuesday wrote:

"As union representative here in Kingston for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, AFL-CIO, Local 186, I feel compelled to express a few remarks regarding an article which appeared in The Freeman, Thursday Oct. 10.

"Louis W. Kaye, a local uptown merchant, attending the New York State Retail Merchants Conference at Grossingers, recently asked Gov. Nelson Rockefeller if the state's minimum wage law could be modified in order to promote the employment of young people. He suggested 75 cents an hour. The state's minimum is presently $1.15, the federal $1.25 an hour. He said this would help combat juvenile delinquency by keeping them off the streets.

Not the Answer: Union

"I'm sure that as a member of this community, Mr. Kaye's concern for young school drop-outs, and the problems that develop, is sincere, but as an employer his suggestion to lower the state's minimum wage law for these people is not the answer.

"Employers have the right to apply to the State Labor Department for learner permits, if experienced workers are not available in the area, and an employer can afford his present work force the opportunity for full-time employment.

Labor's Long Battle

"I'm sure that the proposal for a reduced minimum wage for young people would eventually,

To Collect Leaves

Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, today announced that annual collection of leaves will start next Monday in the Second Ward.

Later next week collecting crews will move into the 12th Ward, and after that collecting schedules will be announced in advance so that residents of various areas will have time to place leaves along curbs for collection.

ADENAUER'S FAREWELL ADDRESS—On his last day as Chancellor of West Germany, Konrad Adenauer gestures during his farewell speech Oct. 15 to parliament in Bonn. To Present Cabinet on Thursday

Economic Chief Is Victor by 279-180

BONN, Germany (AP)—Ludwig Erhard, who directed West Germany's miraculous postwar economic recovery, was elected chancellor today to succeed Konrad Adenauer.

West Germany's lower house, the Bundestag, voted 279-180 to elevate the 66-year-old Erhard to the top government spot left vacant by Adenauer's reluctant retirement Tuesday. There were 24 abstentions and one invalid vote.

Needed 250 to Win

Erhard needed 250 votes to win. His Christian Democrats were joined by their partners in the coalition government, the Free Democrats. The Socialists voted against him.

The chancellor will go before the Bundestag later today to take the oath of office. He will present his new Cabinet to President Heinrich Luebke Thursday.

Erhard has been economics minister throughout Adenauer's tenure as West Germany's only chancellor since the Federal Republic was created in 1949. Adenauer made no secret that he felt Erhard incapable of filling his shoes. He retired at 87 only under extreme pressure from other leaders of his party.

To Follow Basic Policies

Erhard has promised to follow Adenauer's basic foreign policies of support for the Western Alliance, demand for German reunification and reconciliation with France.

But he is expected to show less resistance to U.S. efforts to ease cold war tensions and to open up the European Common Market to trade with the rest of the free world. That will be the big difference.

Barring the unexpected, Erhard will serve the two years until the 1965 general election. But in that campaign he will face a tough battle trying to regain a Bundestag majority for the Christian Democrats Opinion polls show the Socialists have become the country's most popular party although Erhard personally is strongly approved by the voters.

Mende His Successor

Erich Mende, head of the Free Democrats, will succeed Erhard as vice chancellor and will replace Rainer Barzel, a Christian Democrat, as minister for all-German affairs.

Kurt Schmuecker of the Christian Democrats will become minister of economics.

This will leave the 21 Cabinet posts divided as before — 16 Christian Democrats to five Free Democrats.

The religious balance in the Cabinet is also maintained at 11 Protestants to 10 Catholics. Erhard is a Protestant and Adenauer a Catholic. Religion plays a big role in West German politics just below the surface.

Area 26th In Survey On Taxes

Ulster ranks 26th among the 57 upstate counties in a per capita tax levy study reported by the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey Inc., Albany this week.

Ulster County was one of 37 upstate counties which increased taxes from 1962 to 1963. The net budget amount levied on real property in the county for 1963 was $3,299,859.65, an increase of $210,321.58, up 6.42 per cent over 1962, the study revealed.

Increased $987,813

The county gross budget was $8,550,477, an increase of $987,813 over last year.

Real property taxes levied by New York's 57 upstate counties reached a new high in 1963—$17.6 million more than in 1962.

The 1963 total levied by the boards of supervisors for counties outside New York City was $322.4 million, compared with $304.8 million in 1962.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private tax research organization, said real property taxes paid for 46.6 per cent of the $692.2 million spending authorized for operations of county governments in 1963.

Includes State Aid

The remaining 53.4 per cent of the spending (estimated at $369.7 million) was paid mainly from state and federal aid, departmental charges and fees, surpluses of previous years, and in several counties, non-property taxes.

The real property tax levies or "net budgets" are arrived at in each county by deducting estimated revenues from the gross amount of budgeted spending for county purposes, the survey said.

Tentative budgets for 1964, under preparation, must be filed with boards of supervisors by November 15. Boards may change tentative budgets, but before final adoption, copies of the proposed budgets as changed must be made available at the offices of the clerks of the boards of supervisors and public hearings will be held.

Boards of supervisors may revise budgets following public hearings and prior to final adoption which cannot be later than December 20.

Did Not Keep Pace

The $17.6 million increase in real property tax levies for 1963 reflects the extent to which estimated revenues did not keep pace with the gross amount of budgeted spending authorized by the boards of supervisors, the survey noted. Spending increased $54.4 million and estimated revenues increased $36.8 million. The difference ($17.6 million) was made up by increases in real property taxes.

Net budgets to be financed by real property tax levies increased in 37 counties from 1962 to 1963 and decreased in 20

Democrats Reduce Convention Slate To Workable Size

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Convention, which like Topsy just sort of grew, may be trimmed to a more manageable size next year. And its collective voice may have less Southern drawl and Western twang.

The decisions will be made when the Democratic National Committee meets in November or early December to allocate the votes for the 1964 convention at Atlantic City.

A subcommittee headed by Jacob Arvey of Chicago, the national committeeman from Illinois, has been studying the allocation of votes since last May. No proposals have been announced, but sources close to the national committee say these could be among them

Park Asking Unity As Korea President

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — A spokesman of ex-president Yun Po-sun's Civil Rule party virtually conceded election of military strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park as president today.

Yun himself went into hiding Tuesday after the balloting.

The party's spokesman, Kim Yung-sam, said in an informal statement: "We apologize to the people who fought to the end despite various bad laws and other obstacles in this election."

Meanwhile, a spokesman of Park's Democratic Republic party issued a brief statement saying: "The presidential election battle is over. We all should let bygones be bygones and be united in our work at building the Third Republic."

Has 100,000 Lead

While neither party made any flat statement of concession or victory, unofficial counts gave Park nearly a 100,000-vote lead.

Tabulations by South Korea's government-run radio network gave Park 4,471,300 votes to 4,379,084 for Yun.

But votes for three minor anti-government candidates totaled 780,201, demonstrating that a majority of South Korea's voters oppose Park's military-dominated regime.

In earlier returns, the lead shifted back and forth between Park and Yun.

Into Hiding

Yun, 67, candidate of the Civil Rule party and slashing critic of Park's military regime, went into hiding as the ballots were counted. He obviously feared Park's military backers would arrest him.

It seemed apparent that the final tabulation would not end the fierce struggle between the military leaders who have ruled Korea for 29 months and the civilian politicians they displaced in the May 16, 1961, coup.

The losing side was sure to think the winner had not received sufficient mandate to rule unchallenged.

The race was close from the time the vote counting began Tuesday. No one appeared more surprised than Yun's supporters.

Many had thought Park, 46, would easily win a four-year term and go on to form a government-oriented national assembly in elections Nov. 26.

Park went into the election against the advice of advisers who counseled a crackdown on the civilian opposition. He appeared to have hopes of a landslide victory endorsing his rec-

Lipton Buses Are Ready to Start Service Nov. 4th

Julius Lipton, operator of Lipton's Bee Line, 549 Albany Avenue, today said he is prepared to start operating local bus runs Monday Nov. 4.

Ten buses, purchased recently in Schenectady by Lipton, have arrived and are ready for service. He will operate under the name of Urban Transit Corp.

Thomas J. Gadd, president of the Kingston City Transportation Corp. said last bus runs under that name will be made Saturday, Nov. 2, the date fixed in a Public Service Commission order issued earlier this year permitting the corporation to end service.

Started in 1927

Last runs will be made from uptown starting points at about 6 p. m. on the final day of operation. The corporation began operation of its Hasbrouck Avenue schedule in 1927. Other runs were added in the 1930's and later.

Lipton said he will use three, instead of two buses on Broadway runs. This will reduce headway, or starting time from 18 to 12 minutes.

Eight drivers now employed by the Kingston City Transportation Corp. met with Lipton Tuesday night and he reported all arrangements dealing with employment by his corporation as mutually "satisfactory."

Carry 32 Passengers

The 10 Diesel-engine GMC buses to be used on local runs are of ivory and orange color with the latter on the bottom half. Each has a capacity of 32 passengers. They had been in op-

Civil Service Commission Post Is Filled by Mayor

Mayor John J. Schwenk today announced appointment of Frank A. Reis of 373 Broadway, to the Municipal Civil Service Commission to succeed Rose M. Hogan, of 47 German Street, who recently resigned.

Effective immediately the term extends to June 1, 1964, the expiring date of Mrs. Hogan's term.

Educated at St. Joseph's School and Kingston High School, Reis is president of the Central Business Men's Association, a past grand knight and former district deputy, Knights of Columbus, and a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Peter's Church. He had served for 10 years as a delegate to the New York Archdiocesan Union.

Long active in youth programs, he served five years as secretary of the Babe Ruth League and has been active in Catholic Youth Organization programs. He had served during war years as area supervising inspector of Federal Rent Control. He is proprietor of Reis Liquor Store, 367 Broadway, and had served as eastern New York State representative of the Hiram Walker Co. He is married to the former Evelyn M. O'Brien and they have a son, Frank H. Reis.

In announcing the appointment, Mayor Schwenk said, "I know Mr. Reis is both conscientious and diligent in everything he undertakes, for I have seen the amount of time and energy he has devoted to many other civic projects such as the Housing Standards Code. I am confident he will complete Mrs. Hogan's term capably."

Mrs. Hogan recently announced her resignation after she was elected vice-chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee. She had served on the commission several years and was its president at the time of her resignation.

Algerians Flock To Call to Arms

ALGIERS (AP) — Thousands of Algerians streamed into army barracks today in answer to President Ahmed Ben Bella's general mobilization decree to meet the threat of war with Morocco.

The mobilization decree was issued Tuesday night after more fighting in the disputed outposts after two days of bloody skirmishes.

Still Seek Settlement

Ben Bella ordered all former soldiers — estimated to total 30,000 — to report for army service. At the same time efforts continued to negotiate a settlement of the dispute.

Those who answered the mobilization call included numerous young volunteers carried away by the officially whipped-up war fever. Many were clearly too young ever to have fought against the French.

Algerian sources said Ben Bella's call to arms was answered "with spontaneous enthusiasm. "Several thousand men reported at the former French Orleans barracks in Algiers.

Despite the atmosphere of crisis, it seemed unlikely that the governments would allow the dispute to degenerate into war.

Report Fighting Subsides

Mohammed Yazid, former Algerian information minister, and Slimane Hoffman, an aide of Defense Minister Col. Houari Boumedienne, flew back to Algiers Tuesday night after a day of talks in Marrakech with King Hassan II of Morocco and other Moroccan leaders.

The two emissaries immediately went into conference with Ben Bella. They took off again

Drought Covers Wide U.S. Area, East Is Critical

CHICAGO (AP) — Drought and woodland fires continued to plague many parts of the nation today.

Drought conditions in some areas in the eastern half of the nation appeared near the critical stage. Hundreds of fires burned in the tinder-dry forestlands in the Northeast and Midwest sections.

Rangeland Dry, Brittle

Summer's lush green pasture lands in much of the Western rangelands and in other areas were dry and brittle. Hay shortages were reported. There was a heavy decline in feed for livestock. Milk production sagged. Marketing of cattle was higher than normal for the season.

Water levels on most of the Great Lakes and many major rivers and streams were below seasonal levels. Water shortages developed in some communities and restrictions were ordered.

No accurate estimate of the damage the drought and fires

Contact Machione On UR, Mayor's Word to Heitzman

Mayor John J. Schwenk, in a brief reply to former 12th Ward Alderman John P. Heitzman's request for a neighborhood meeting to discuss uptown urban renewal, proposed that Heitzman, who is Democratic candidate for alderman of the ward, contact incumbent Alderman John Machione to discuss the proposal.

The letter, dated Tuesday, said:

"Thank you for your letter of Oct. 14, 1963, which I happened to hear on the radio prior to receiving it at my office.

"As you know, Alderman John Machione is your representative in the 12th Ward, and also is a member of the Common Council Urban Renewal Committee.

"I am confident that he is well aware of the current status of the uptown urban renewal project, and also very much in touch with the opinions of the people of the 12th Ward.

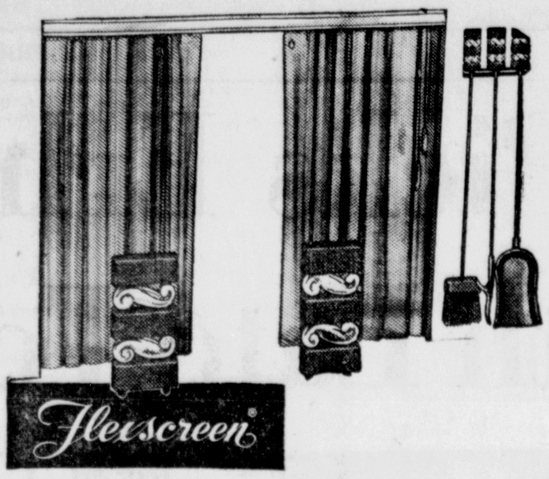

"If you have any questions about the uptown urban renewal project, I would suggest that you see Mr. Machione, who, I am sure, will be happy to serve you."

Heitzman's letter to the mayor, released for publication Tuesday, said people of the uptown urban renewal area were concerned about gaining information on the project, and apparently had not been contacted, to date, to arrange for a neighborhood meeting.

Raids Doubled On Gambling in Penna. Counties

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania state police, under Scranton administration orders to crack down on gambling where local enforcement is lax, have more than doubled their number of raids this year.

Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandroni ordered the increased raiding tempo in June, a few months after Gov. Scranton issued a general warning to a number of unidentified counties to clean up their own houses.

State police statistics show that 361 gambling raids between Jan. 1 and Oct. 10, 1963, resulted in 702 arrests. Last year's figures for the same period show 175 raids and 373 arrests.

No breakdown was available on which raids were made without local participation. Some were in cooperation with local police and others with U.S. Internal Revenue Service agents.

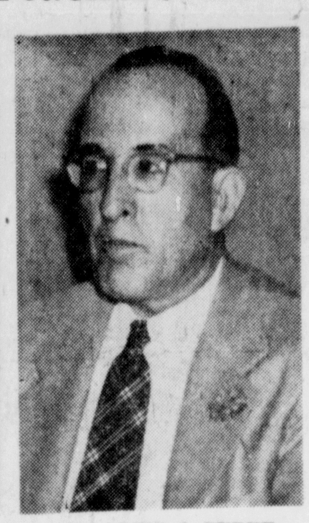

More raids were conducted this year in 25 counties, fewer in 15 counties and the same number in 4 counties. No raids were staged in either year in 23 counties.

Scranton told a recent news conference that sharply increased activity by state police in any county could be taken as an indication local authorities were not doing the enforcement job.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — "All rise," said the bailiff as Judge Lester L. Barrett swept into Baltimore County Circuit Court.

As the lawyers and spectators got to their feet, the courtroom was plunged into darkness. Judge Barrett's robe had caught on an electrical switch near the door.

As the lights came on again, attorney Fred D. Weisgal said: "Your honor, that was the most dramatic entrance I've ever seen."

Chicken War Is Going to Panel, Euromart Agrees

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The European Common Market backed down Tuesday and agreed to submit its chicken war with the United States to an impartial panel for settlement.

The European Ministerial Council, ruling body of the six-nation trade group, accepted an American proposal that the issue involved in the shipment of American frozen poultry to Western Europe be examined by a group of foreign trade experts.

The ministers, representing France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxemourg, referred their decision to a drafting committee before final action on a text this afternoon, according to Common Market sources.

Under the American proposal, each side would nominate an expert, and a third member of the panel would be named by the international trade organization known as the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade with headquarters in Geneva.

The panel would look into U.S. claims that the overseas sales of American poultrymen have been damaged to the tune of $46 million by the Common Market's tariffs. The U.S. government has been plugging for a reduction in European tariffs on American frozen poultry.

The Americans already have declined a 10-per cent cut in European duties as "small and uncertain."

The current European levy is 13.13 cents a pound. According to U.S. officials, this has cut deeply into U.S. shipments to the Common Market, particularly to West Germany.

SHARES IN A SATELLITE

If advance interest means anything, the Communications Satellite Corp. will have little difficulty raising its operating capital. Now ready to go to work, this company is the one chartered by Congress in 1962 with a mandate to establish a communication network in the stratosphere.

Organization of the company has proceeded according to plan. Two experienced business men are already in harness as CSC's executive officers. The next big step will be offering its stock to the public, a flotation expected within the next few months.

The capital required is no mean item. About 200 million dollars in cash will be needed at the start. As to the price per share on the original offering, Congress left the matter open, with this proviso: shares may not come out at more than $100. This is a wise stipulation which should guarantee the widest possible distribution.

Actually the company believes $50 will be reasonably close to the final figure. Whatever the price, as things look now there will be a real scramble for these shares, because all the elements are there to make this enterprise either a colossal flop or a spectacular success. In the investing public's present mood, no one expects they will be much daunted by the first possibility.

THE GEOGRAPHIC

It is not quite true that the National Geographic has always been with us. During a considerable period of history, mankind somehow struggled along without this illuminating monthly window on the world. How those early folk managed is a bit of a mystery.

This is an only slightly exaggerated gambit leading to congratulations on the Geographic's diamond anniversary. Th magazine of the National Geographic Society has won for itself a unique, and notably warm, spot in the hearts of some three and a half million readers in this country and throughout the world.

This remarkable publication's 75th issue is, as one might confidently have expected, a humdinger. The featured story is an account of the first U.S. conquest of Mount Everest, an undertaking of which the Geographic Society was the principal sponsor. This recalls the occasion in 1907 when the Society made the first of its many grants for research and exploration—in that case, $1,000 to help Peary in his final drive to the North Pole.

It is a pleasure to add our admiring congratulations to those undoubtedly being received from all over the world. We wish the Geographic continued long life.

OLD BUT STILL A GOOD IDEA

Being kind to animals is part of our way of life, due in large part to the ceaseless efforts of a remarkable organization.

Next May marks the golden anniversary of the national observance of Be Kind to Animals Week, sponsored by The American Humane Association.

BRILLIANT FAMILY

A member of a distinguished family has died. This was Lyman Beecher Stowe, a biographer, historian and philanthropist who was the grandson of Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The family had other noted members. Lyman's great uncle, Henry Ward Beecher, was a famous pulpit orator, and active in civic affairs, especially during the Civil War. Henry's father, another Lyman, was a gifted preacher whose oratory provoked religious rioting in Boston in the early 19th century.

Harriet Beecher Stowe herself would have been remembered if she had never written "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Her "Oldtown Folks," a story of Maine, still holds its place in our literature. But "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was her supreme achievement. Lincoln was not altogether jesting when, meeting her at the White House, he said, "So here is the little woman that caused this great war."

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

FOOTPRINTS ON THE SANDS OF TIME

The "image" of the American businessman and industrialist, as projected by our intellectuals, has generally been one of a cheater who would sell his own mother into slavery for a fast buck. The meat packers, according to the fiction of Upton Sinclair, made money out of poisoned beef; the airplane manufacturers, as depicted in a recently popular Broadway play, have been willing to risk their own aviator sons in defective planes in time of war.

In the days when I was doing a column of book criticism, this sort of stuff came over my desk regularly. Like any cliche, it got to be a bore. It also happened to be a tremendous distortion of the truth, as I came to know when I deserted the book world to write corporation stories for a business magazine.

The world of business is like any other world, a mixture of elements. It has produced villians, no doubt, but it has also produced saintly characters, such as my friend Spencer Heath.

Mr. Heath died last week at the age of 86 in his native Virginia, and was buried in a family plot in the Shenandoah Valley town of Winchester. The news of his death caused only the faintest of ripples, for he had been a quiet man for many years. There were only a few to remember that he was one of the great originating pioneers in the field of aviation manufacturing, and I doubt that there were ten people in the country who recalled the details of his effort to force manufacturing rectitude on the United States government in its aviation program for World War I.

Spencer Heath was the first man in the United States to develop a machine for the mass production of airplane propellers. His factory in Baltimore was turning out some 250 propellers a day when the United States entered World War I in 1917. Naturally, the government depended almost entirely upon the celebrated "Paragon" propellers that came from the Heath factory. No American-made plane was produced in time to carry such aces as Eddie Rickenbacker up over the German lines, but manufacturers like Mr. Heath gave it a good try, and if the war had lasted a little longer the "Paragon" propeller would surely have made an enviable wartime record. On May 16, 1919, a "Paragon" powered the first airplane, a Navy "N-C" seaplane, to fly from Trepassey in Newfoundland to the Azores.

As long as Mr. Heath made propellers to his own specifications, they were good ones. But at one point during the war the government ordered a type which Mr. Heath felt was quite unsound. When he presented an alternative design, he was informed, "Mr. Heath, this is wartime. You make those propellers, or we'll shoot you."

With a federal gun at his head, Spencer Heath complied with government orders. He was, after all, under military discipline. But before shipping the propellers out he had a rubber stamp made which read: "Made under protest. Condemned by manufacturer." This warning was stamped on every defective propeller that left the factory. The stamp still in the proud possession of the Heath family. When he tried to trace the fate of the defective propellers he had made under duress, Mr. Heath was told they had wound up in a warehouse in Texas.

After World War I Spencer Heath made the first practical engine-powered, controllable and reversible pitch propeller. This did for aircraft what the gear shift did for the automobile. Without it, the airplane would not have been adaptable to commercial use.

I knew Mr. Heath in the days of his retirement, long after he had sold his patents and technical facilities to the Bendix Aviation Company. In his book, "Citadel, Market and Altar," printed by the Yale University Press for his own Science of Society Foundation, Inc., Mr. Heath developed some remarkable theories bearing on inventive creativity that have been commended by Roscoe Pound, former dean of the Harvard Law School, and philosopher William Ernest Hocking. An original man always, Spencer Heath doubted that the Western nations were menaced by the higher birth rates of countries such as China and Soviet Russia. Since the populations of the high birth rate nations have short life expectancies, the fund of experience in those countries never deepens, Mr. Heath worked it out mathematically. "If you have half as many people who live twice as long," he used to say, "they will live to do something more than merely eat, grow to adolescence, reproduce their kind, and die."

The DOCTOR SAYS

Gout's Misconceptions Are Slow to Pass Away

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you have gout, you can be glad you did not live in the last century when the disease was poorly understood. Some misconceptions about this disease that were popular in those days have persisted because erroneous ideas are slow to die.

For one thing the disease is not limited to gourmands who eat steak and kidney pie for breakfast and wash down all solid food with wine. In some persons gout is a hereditary disease, and like diabetes, is due to faulty metabolism.

Also, like diabetes, it can be controlled but not cured. In persons with gout, it has been found that the amount of uric acid in the blood is increased. This may be the result of eating large amounts of certain foods that are rich in purines, a greater than normal breaking down of body proteins, an overproduction of uric acid, or an interference with the normal elimination of uric acid through the kidneys.

In some persons without a hereditary tendency to gout acute attacks of gout may occur following the taking of large amounts of pyrazinamide for tuberculosis, or chlorothiazide which is a diuretic or "water pill." If these drugs must be taken over a long period, the gout they cause can be relieved by the use of the same drugs used to control hereditary gout.

Gout is seen more commonly in persons who are overweight than in the thin and more often in men than in women for reasons not yet known.

When the excess of uric acid in the blood exceeds a certain concentration, uric acid crystals may form in the joints, especially those of the great toe, where they cause gouty arthritis, an excruciatingly painful disease. Crystals may also form in the skin of the ear or other parts, and they may form in the kidneys where they may cause kidney stones and may seriously damage the kidneys.

If a person with gouty arthritis is not treated, the attack will clear up after about two weeks, but several months later another attack will occur. These attacks come on at shorter and shorter intervals and become longer in duration until a chronic unrelieved gouty state exists. This was a common occurrence in the past, but rarely, if ever, happens now.

Persons with gouty ancestors or who, for any reason, are suspected of having a gouty tendency can be recognized by an increased uric acid level in the blood and then with skillful management may go through life without ever having an acute attack. They should drink two or three quarts of water daily as this helps to keep the uric acid from crystallizing in the urine and causing stones.

They should avoid all purine-rich foods such as glandular cuts (sweetbreads, liver and kidneys), meat extracts (bouillon or consomme), anchovies and sardines but, as in diabetes, diet alone is not enough. It is necessary to take one of the drugs that causes elimination of uric acid without causing a loss of essential nutrients in the blood.

"---and There's Where El Presidente Lives When We Have One"

ROSS LEWIS, MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Saucy reporter May Craig asked President Kennedy early in his administration, "sir, what are you doing for women?"

"Whatever we have done, Mrs. Carig," replied the President, I'm sure it hasn't been enough."

So in December 1961 the President created a 26-member Commission on the Status of Women with the late Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt at its head to study the situation.

Twenty-two months later on the anniversary of that great lady's birth, the commission filed its report and went out of business. From here on, anything done to improve the status of women is put up to the President, the courts, Congress, of state legislatures and city councils, education, business and labor leaders and the 50 million members of women's clubs that concern themselves about it.

THE FIRST NATURAL REACTION OF any mere male to all this is to don misogynist robes and imitate Schopenhauer. What do women want with any more status than they now have? Why don't the dears hang onto what they already have and let it go at that, as the most favored of the sexes?

But women are never satisfied and never will be, which is one of the things that make them so—so womanly.

The commission report, titled "American Women" is an 86-page slick paper job that sells for $1.25 from Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., Zip Code 20401, in case you want one for your club. It was put together under direction of its two vice-chairmen, Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of labor, and Dr. Richard A. Lester, head of the Department of Economics at Princeton.

At last report, Old Nassau was not a coeducational institution. This either makes Dr. Lester a traitor to his sex or a moderating influence that kept the report from being any more extreme than it is. But he is an authority on employment and an important part of the book deals with women's work, which is never done. The report was written by Mrs. Helen Hill Miller, one of Washington's brainiest women.

DETAILS OF THE COMMISSION'S findings and all 24 of its major recommendations will be reported in the news columns or on the women's pages. But a couple of highlights are worth emphasizing in this space because they show how much the status of American women has changed in this century.

In 1900 the average life expectancy for women was 48 years. Today it is 73 years. American girls are marrying younger than their mothers and grandmothers did. The young wives are having more children at lower infant mortality rates.

What this means for the future is that more women will find that they have a second life to live after their children are grown. The choice will no longer be family or career. They can have both. It is happening already.

One third of the labor force is women. Half of the 24 million employed women are in the 45 or older age bracket and 55 per cent of them are married women.

THESE ARE WOMEN WHO FOR financial reason's can't or for personal reasons don't want to sit out the second half of their lives. They want to resume old careers or find new ones. They want to live long and useful lives not only for the happiness of their own sweet selves, but also to be of more service to their families, communities and country.

There is another aspect of it which the commission report doesn't go into, but which is worth a close look. This is the effect which the employment of more and more women has on the total unemployment picture.

To provide jobs for all these women means that the growth rate of the economy must be accelerated more than if only an expanding male labor force has to be kept at full employment levels.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy Says CR Measure Goes Too Far

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Kennedy has just made a remarkable statement to the House Judiciary Committee on the whole subject of civil rights legislation. In a nutshell, he recognizes that the measure reported out by the subcommittee, while desirable in its objectives, goes too far and might even imperil the ultimate enactment of the entire program.

In the course of his testimony, the Attorney General suggested some ways to diminish opposition to the bill. He said, for instance, that it would be unwise for the Federal government to interfere in state, county and city elections and that it should confine itself to Federal elections. But Mr. Kennedy's main objection was to the wide sweep of authority which the pending bill would give to the Federal government to regulate customer relations in "public accommodations." He said that the principle behind the bill — namely, that all forms of racial discrimination are equally objectionable —is a morale one, but that he believes the original anti-discrimination proposal, which did not attempt to extend Federal law to cover every form of "public accommodations," was a much better approach. Mr. Kennedy feels that many of the problems can be solved by voluntary means. He declared:

"We were reluctant to extend Federal power beyond those areas where it was clearly needed to meet existing problems. The sub-committee has added to this coverage a catch-all which prohibits discrimination in any business operating under state or local 'authorization, permission, or license.' This addition meets none of the criteria we thought important. . . .

"What businesses are covered by this provision are unclear. It would seem to extend Federal regulation to law firms, medical partnerships and clinics, private schools, apartment houses, insurance companies, banks, and, potentially, to all businesses which a state does not affirmatively ban. And its application, if a narrower interpretation is proper, is in any event uneven to the extent that it depends upon widely divergent state licensing practices to determine its coverage."

Mr. Kennedy pointed out that, while excesses by the police have occurred, the proposed use of broad injunctive power might create new problems for the Federal government. He said said that before the proposed section of the pending bill could be used, it would have to be clear "that a Federally protected right has been or is about to be violated." He continued:

"It would be a mistake to assume that all demonstrations are protected because their aims are consistent with national policy and are supported by the vast majority of the American people — like peaceful protests against racial discrimination. Limitations may be Constitutionally imposed upon the time of demonstrations, their duration, their place and the number of people. Not all demonstrations are protected by the First and Fourteenth Amendments. Thus, no matter how bitterly they may be resented, not all offensive police conduct in connection with civil rights demonstrations would be within the reach of Title III."

The Attorney General spoke of the basic danger of relying on injunctions to control in advance the actions of local police. He said:

"One result might be that state and local authorities would abdicate their law enforcement responsibilities, thereby creating a vacuum in authority which could be filled only by Federal force. This, in turn — if it is to be faced squarely — would require creation of a national police force. This is a step which is historically, and with good reason, abhorrent to our Federal system. I am sure all members of the committee would be opposed to such a drastic development unless all means of dealings with the underlying injustices fail."

The subcommittee has also proposed the establishment of a Fair Employment Practices Commission and would give wide authority to such a body. But inasmuch as a measure of this kind would have to ergulate the operations of labor unions, it is apparent that the Administration sees trouble ahead. The Attorney General said:

"At the same time, I recognize that there are some experienced members of Congress who feel that the inclusion of this provision in the omnibus bill could make it more difficult to secure a rule from the Rules Committee and could even jeopardize ultimate passage of the omnibus bill."

Unquestionably Mr. Kennedy is aware that opposition to the bill has been mounting and that this might mean its defeat. As a practical step, therefore, he has been urging that the provisions which have raised most of the protest should be eliminated or modified. This is the customary tactic in Congress in trying to get legislation enacted on a compromise basis. But all the proponents of the legislation, particularly those who have been leading street demonstrations, may not understand the niceties of legislative procedure. That's what sets up a real dilemma for the Administration.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Charlotte, North Carolina — The two little houses sit on the edge of a glade of old pines and oaks. The mocking birds warble and the blue jays make fancy turns against the cobalt sky. In the back of the houses is a cinder block annex on a lower level. It connects both houses. Inside, are rows of brand new cribs. Each one has a small stuffed dog or teddy bear. This is Holy Angels Nursery, the home of unwanted infants.

A few months ago, I wrote a column about this place. Kays Gary of the Charlotte Observer asked me to do it. I asked for foreign coins from readers. What you sent comes to $40,000 in nickels, dimes, dollars, old coins, foreign coins, wedding rings, diamond rings, checks, t.v. sets, air conditioning units, cribs, blankets, paint, playground swings, and prayers.

Sister Marie Patrice, founder of Holy Angels, can't believe it. I sat watching the dedication ceremony of the buildings, and I watched her. She is a chronic heart case, but she will not quit because the State of North Carolina has no home for chronically sick infants—the mongoloids, the hydrocephalics, the mentally deficient, the club-footed.

A Baptist minister delivered the invocation. He has a baby among the patients. He was young and dark and fervent. A Lutheran Minister stood out front with his wife, making pictures of the event. A Catholic monsignor delivered the benediction. A Jewish woman, officer of B'nai B'rith, reminded me that one of the mongoloid babies inside is Jewish.

As I listened, the thought occurred to me that the brotherhood which the Ecumenical Council is trying to engender in Rome is practiced here. The Sisters of Mercy take all babies; the money to buy milk and medicine comes largly from Protestants. The Sisters furnish the love; the devotion.

Kelly and I went through the rooms which your money bought. The walls are in soft pastels; the lighting is indirect. The cribs are spotless, the blankets in robin egg blues and pinks. The babies —yes, the babies. There are 46 of them. Some are shaped like table lamps, with huge heads and bodies like pencils. The tiny mongoloids have oriental eyes. When Sister Marie Patrice sneaks her hand between the slats of a crib, and touches a fat little arm, the infant lifts its head, turns, and responds with a toothless smile.

She knows them all. "The father of this one brought her up from Atlanta. I met him at the plane. It was raining. He looked so pathetic with the little receiving blanket in his arm. He didn't know whether to hand it to me, or take it back. She had pneumonia from December until June. She's all right, now."

Negro nurses in starched whites put pretty frocks on babies, and take them out back for a swing. A six year old boy has brain damage which keeps him in perpetual motion. He cannot stop. His tongue lolls between his teeth and his legs are knock-kneed, but he is in muscle spasm all the time. A pretty blond girl has such extensive braind damage that she cannot think or feel. Her blue eyes follow us silently around her crib.

Maria is seven. She's queen. She was the first baby claimed by Sister Patrice. She was born with a head three times normal size, paralyzed in body, and almost blind. She gets around in an aluminum wheelchair. Now she is in the second grade of school. She has kidney disease. The doctors give her six months. She sleeps in a room next to Sister Patrice, and Maria is told again and again that Sister is not her mother, but she refuses to believe it.

A tall young man and her husband stood beside a crib. It was the father who wept. "I can't believe it is this nice," he murmured. "All those people sending money. I can't believe it. We have six normal children and —and him." He pointed into the crib. "My wife wanted to keep him. Now I'm glad he's here. He gets the best care, the most love. We know he won't get well, but when the Sisters pick him up, and—you know—rub cheeks sort of, he laughs and his little arms bounce up and down."

The pediatrician on duty donates his talent, his time. The Presbyterian construction engineer designed and built the place at less than cost. The Charlotte Observer space to get money for the babies. Kays Gary, a Methorist, wears himself out trying to keep the Holy Angels Nursery from dying of lack of funds.

Sam Millette, a Charlotte attorney, shook his head with wonderment and stuffed a piece of paper in his pocket. I asked him what it was. "Some organization sent a check for $1,000," he said, "on condition that we don't mention who sent it." The Jewish woman told me she wants to stage a Night of Stars Benefit for the babies.

A long time ago, Someone stood on a hillside and said: "What you do for the least of these, you do also for Me." . . .

Dairy Units Are Opposed to New Milk-Market Area

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Federal approval of a proposal to create a new milk-marketing area adjacent to the New York-New Jersey milkshed has drawn sharp criticism from two large New York dairy organizations.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture showed "almost complete disregard" of hearing evidence in recommending creation of the new milk marketing order, the organizations said Tuesday.

The two groups said in a joint statement that the department's recommendation to set up a Delaware Valley Marketing Order No. 4 as an individual dealer pool had shaken farmers' confidence in the department's hearing procedure.

The statement was issued by the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency and the Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives.

"The preponderance of the evidence at the hearing strongly favored regulation of the Delaware Valley Order under market-wide pooling," the New York organizations aid.

The new order would combine the Philadelphia and Wilmington, Del., markets and include southern New Jersey.

In their protest at the hearing, the two groups had proposed that the new order be modeled after the New York-New Jersey order in which dairy farmers are paid a blend price computed by averaging the prices paid for all classes of milk on a marketwide basis.

The proposed order, like the present Philadelphia order, calls for dairy farmers to receive a blend price based on the amount of milk they supply to individual handlers. This price may vary from handler to handler.

Mutual and Metropolitan voiced their objections in exceptions to the Oct. 3 recommended decision. The exceptions were filed with the department. The recommendation is subject to approval in a referendum in the proposed order area.

The two protesting organizations contend the new proposed order would pile fresh losses upon the $6.2 million they say dairymen lost in 1962 in the New York-New Jersey milkshed.

One reason for these losses, they maintain, is that about 1,000 Philadelphia producers have been dropped by their dealers in the last five years. The resulting milk surplus is finding its way into the New York-New Jersey milkshed, they contend.

Doolittle Ending C-H Career on 31st, 40 Years

J. Ernest Doolittle, long active in Mid-Hudson Valley civic and business organizations, will retire as vice president of Commercial Relations of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation Oct. 31.

At the time of his retirement, Doolittle, who resides in Poughkeepsie, will have completed 40 years of service with the local utility.

Doolittle joined Central Hudson in July 1923 after graduating from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with a degree in Electrical Engineering.

He served in the utility's Operating Department until 1927 when he joined the Commercial Department as Eastern Division Commercial Manager.

In May 1954, Doolittle was appointed assistant vice president of commercial relations and two years later he was named general commercial manager. He was appointed to the vice presidency in March 1957.

He is a member of the American Gas Association and the New York State Society of Professional Engineers. Doolittle also served on the sales division executive committee and on the Live Better Electrically policy committee of the Edison Electric Institute, and he is a member of the Engineers' Club of New York City.

Doolittle is a director of the Associated Hospital Service of New York and was elected a life member of the Board of Trustees of Vassar Brothers Hospital in recognition of his service to the Poughkeepsie hospital.

He has also served as an officer of the Mid-Hudson Industrial Association and the Dutchess County Civil Defense and is a past president of the Dutchess Area Community Chest and Council, the Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce and the Poughkeepsie Rotary Club.

Coats for Sheep

CASTLE CARROCK, England (AP) — Farmer William Wilson is putting his 3,000 sheep in sheep's clothing for the winter.

The sheep are being clad in special coats of jute sacking, made to Wilson's design at 70 cents each at an Edinburgh factory.

He whipped up such coats to protect the best sheep of his flock during last winter's severe weather and liked the results.

Hourly Test Made Of Line Between Pentagon, Kremlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once every hour a bell shrills and the "hot line" teletype connection between the Pentagon and the Kremlin springs to life.

A message chatters across that line—across the 5,200 miles separating the center of Soviet power and the U.S. capital.

It's not a life-and-death message from President Kennedy to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, or the other way around.

It's a test, made hourly around the clock to be certain the circuit—which has another outlet at the White House — is working and ready in event of an emergency requiring instantaneous communication between the Russian and U.S. heads of state.

This has been going on since the line was declared open on Aug. 30.

If there have been any communications between Kennedy and Khrushchev during the six weeks the "hot line" has been in business, they are being kept secret. The Defense Department and the White House refuse to discuss the subject.

There is reason to believe the hot line was not used during last week's brief tension over Soviet halting of a U.S. troop convoy bound for West Berlin.

The only break in secrecy surrounding hot line messages became last month when William C. Foster, U.S. disarmament agency chief, told a House committee a Soviet test transmission "described in lyrical language the beauties of a Moscow sunset."

The Pentagon refused to give out the text of that Russian message, or any others received since, saying, "transmissions on the communication link between the USSR and the US are considered 'privacy transmissions'."

Apparently teletype operators on the American end of the line haven't tried to match the Soviets in the prose department.

The Americans have confined themselves to the standard, "The quick brown fox jumped over a lazy dog's back."

"It has proven to be the best alphabetical test devised," the Defense Department said.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Robert Matthews of 201 East Union Street brought me some interesting photo-postal-cards to see. Two of them were of Mueller's Band. This was not taken at the Kingston Point Bandstand, so it seems to me. Mr. Matthews says he also recognizes John Schick and Mr. Terpening, so perhaps he will find out who the other men of the orchestra were. There is also a picture of the "foot bridge at Ashokan Dam." He also has several photo-postal-cards of a patriotic parade going by the Knights of Columbus building. The very popular policeman, Mr. White is walking in front of one parade. There are soldiers in covered wagons and two white horses. They also show other pictures of the Transport, Ferry, and the Eli Bunker steamer with soldiers on the ferryboat.

Mr. Matthews also has a very interesting scrapbook of bill heads of various Kingston businessmen going back to 1901, like "T. Partlan, practical horse shoer, specialty made of lamenes and diseases of the foot. Shop No. 48 Hasbrouck Avenue." I see Mr. Partlan charged about $1 per horse shoe. There is a picture of the present Freeman building, which back on April 23, 1896 housed the "Sampson Brothers, Rondout, Broadway, Strand and Canal Street, makers and retailers of good clothes for man and boy, hats and furnishings." They also had establishments on Main Street in Poughkeepsie, and on 4th Street in New York City. This bill was for "four uniforms at $21, and alterations $3, total $87, to Union Hose Co., City of Kingston." There is a paid bill dated Jan. 15, 1896 from "Charles Lay, dealer in all kinds of choice fish, oysters and clams, 125 Hasbrouck Avenue."

I see a paid bill from "M. Weil and Son, dry goods, 20 Broadway, Rondout, N. Y." I notice all these bills use name "Rondout, N. Y." One dated Nov. 8, 1906 from "John T. Bond, watchmaker and jeweler, No. 12 East Strand" to Union Hose Co. "for new pendulum rod and cleaning of clock 65 cents." I see Union Hose also bought from Thomas A. Rafferty, dealer in choice groceries, at 199 Strand, in Rondout, such items as: Ammonia, silicon, emery paper, emery stone, two candles; matches 7 cents. One box Segars $1.25 etc. The handwriting in those days was good, letters usually carefully drawn out and they were very careful about numbers. The ink was also good and after some 60 or more years is sharp and bright, and of various colors.

I see a bill for "Stock & Cordts, dealers in furniture, carpets and mantels of every description. Warerooms and factory, 82-84-86 Broadway, Rondout, City of Kingston, N. Y." This bill has a fine picture of their large and tall building, which still stands today. They also show the trolley going by the large plate glass windowed showrooms. Nicholas Stock and John N. Cordts are listed at the top of the building.

I see Union Hose Co. No. 4 bought "two glass size 22 by 30, at $1.04 and one glass size 22 by 28 at 47 cents, cut to order" from "Van Deusen Bro's. wholesale druggists, dealers in drugs, medicines, white lead, zinc, oils, glass etc., Mandrake Tonic, and Cough Balsam." This was dated Feb. 11, 1896. I see one bill dated June 2, 1915 for Bludwine Bottling Co. for "one case Bludwine $1." Must have been some sort of tonic. They rubber-stamped it "A charge of 60 cents will be made for empty box and bottles not returned."

Picture at Lunch Time at Outpost In S. Viet Nam

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

AP CO CO, Viet Nam (AP)—Come along for lunch in the headquarter building of the outpost defending this village deep in the Mekong Delta area of South Viet Nam.

In one corner of the room is a two-way radio embedded in a concrete wall in an effort to keep it from being seized by Communist Viet Cong attackers. In another corner is a boa constrictor. The snake is a baby, about four feet long, a pet kept by the men of the unit.

The food for lunch, a blend of Vietnamese and Chinese, is good. There are chicken, beef, pork and vegetables in various mixtures, and boiled dry rice. The local beer is served with cracked ice.

Interesting Talk

The conversation is interesting. The province chief tells you that every night the outpost sends most members of its two 30-man platoons out on patrol against Communist guerrillas.

The men of the post, who gravely salute every visitor, civilian and military, proudly display their weapons and equipment. Many of them have families here with them, living within the circle of barbed wire, earth embankments and sharpened bamboo stakes that surround the post.

Pictures of President Ngo Dinh Diem and members of his family and government hang on the walls of the headquarters, but the talk is of the fight against the Viet Cong, the trading in the market, the rice crop—not of politics or high policy matters.

Outside the headquarters hazardous wooden stairs lead to the watchtower. There a young Vietnamese clutching a carbine and another with a portable field radio look out over the flat, wet land of the delta.

A couple of visitors decide to take a walk. Two self-defense corps men with rifles tag casually along. They wade through the mud past a Chinese merchant's shop, where a surprising variety of household articles, clothing and sundries can be found.

A narrow footbridge takes the strollers across a canal. Suddenly a machine gun opens up along the river.

Friendly or unfriendly? No one seems to know, but the province chief hurriedly suggests that the route of the walk be changed.

It is, back along a path that leads to the outpost. Inside, the boa stirs sleepily in the midday heat. The watchtower guards look out over the flat, wet land of the delta.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

SPARKLINGLY delicious way to break the dull breakfast routine: bacon scrapple with baked apples.

Bacon Scrapple Is Real Dutch Treat

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Bored with the same old breakfast pattern? Then it's time for a change. How does this appeal to you — baked apples stuffed with raisins, bacon scrapple with real maple syrup (if you can find it) and strong clear coffee? Robust and good, wouldn't you say?

Mrs. von P, whose family is Pennsylvania Dutch, sends us her modern version of her grandmother's recipe.

BACON SCRAPPLE
Makes 6 servings

½ pound bacon, cut in small pieces
1 cup cold water
1 cup enriched corn meal
¾ easpoon salt
3 cups boiling water

Pan-fry bacon pieces. Drain well on absorbent paper. Combine cold water, corn meal and salt; slowly pour into boiling water, stirring constantly. Bring to boiling point; cover and continue cooking over low heat 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add drained bacon; mix well. Pour into an 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan. Cool slightly; cover and chill sveral hours or overnight. Cut chilled scrapple into ½-inch slices. Fry on lightly greased griddle or in frying pan over medium heat until golden brown. Serve with syrup.

Agatha Unappreciated

BALTIMORE (AP)—The sign in the bookstore window said "Books Bought and Sold" so one resident tried to unload a stack of paperback mystery novels.

"They don't sell," said the man at the counter.

"Agatha Christie mysteries alone have sold 200 million copies," said the man with the paperbacks.

"Ha," said the clerk. "In every field you get these one-time flash-in-the-pan writers."

Reds Back Down Again as Anglo Convoy Rolls On

BERLIN (AP) — A British military convoy held on the Berlin Autobahn by the Russians today moved westward, a British spokesman announced.

The British spokesman said the convoy continued its interrupted journey "on our terms."

Demand Refused

That meant the British refused the Soviet demand for the British soldiers to dismount to be counted.

carrying 28 men, was stopped by the Soviets at Babelsberg, their checkpoint just outside Berlin where a U.S. convoy was blockaded last week.

Delayed Nine Hours

It was kept waiting nine hours until the Russians gave up their insistence on men dismounting and lifted the barriers for it to proceed.

The convoy still had to go through a second Soviet checkpoint at Marienborn, at the border of West Germany on the western end of the superhighway.

It was still a question whether the Russians would repeat their delaying tactics at Marienborn.

The British said the Soviet blockade was deliberate and protested vigorously. The U.S. State Department had suggested the American convoy was held up by confusion at the local level.

Scene Is Same

The scene was the same for both incidents, the checkpoint at Babelsberg within sight of Berlin.

The halting of the convoy did not interfere with civilian traffic on the 110-mile autobahn between Berlin and West Germany.

It was understood that the Soviets demanded that the British soldirs get out of their vehicles and line up to be counted.

The British convoy commander refused.

The Russians made the same demand of a U.S. convoy last week on the autobahn and the American commander similarly refused. A serious crisis resulted, but the Russians finally lifted their blockade.

British authorities in Berlin appeared convinced that the stopping of the convoy today was part of a Soviet plan. Informants said the British authorities rejected any suggestion that the trouble was the result of "local confusion," as the U.S. State Department had maintained when U.S. Army convoys were held up.

A second British convoy of 10 vehicles with 35 men was at Allied Checkpoint Bravo, less than a mile from Communist territory, and was ordered to remain there for the time being.

A British spoksman said the commander of the blockaded convoy, Capt. Arthur Keeling, 49, refused the Soviet demand because it was "completely at variance with normal procedure."

First Since 48-49

It was the first time since the 1948-49 Berlin blockade that the Russians had blocked a British military convoy on the 110-mile lifeline between Communist surrounded West Berlin and West Germany.

A British spokesman said a protest was lodged with the Soviet authorities at Potsdam. The three Western commandants in Berlin immediately went into an emergency meeting.

While the British convoy was held up, a U.S. Army convoy of four vehicles and eight men bound for West Germany was cleared without difficulty, a U.S. spokesman said.

Since the resolution on Saturday of last week's autobahn crisis, the U.S. Army has sent a number of convoys through East Germany without difficulty. However, these movements involved large numbers of men who dismounted voluntarily to be counted.

Escapee Is Shot, Recaptured by Newburgh Police

A 29-year-old prisoner, who escaped from an Orange County jail work detail on Oct. 8, was shot and recaptured by a Newburgh patrolman Tuesday afternoon, after he attempted to make a getaway.

Authorities reported Onslow Hargrove, of Newburgh, who was serving a 60-day sentence for assault, was wounded in the back by a bullet fired by Patrolman Roland Mitchell, who recognized the fugitive near a gasoline service station.

Condition Is Fair

Hargrove was taken to St. Luke's Hospital where the bullet was removed. His condition was later listed as "fair."

Police said Mitchell was on patrol after 4 p. m. yesterday when he spied Hargrove near a North Water Street service station. He approached the man and told him he was under arrest, authorities reported. Hargrove ran down the street pursued by the patrolman, who commanded him to stop.

When Hargrove continued to run, Mitchell fired a shot, wounding the fugitive in the back.

Police said the service station where Hargrove was spotted by the patrolman, formerly was operated by Claude Quick, who was killed during a holdup several years ago. Four men were convicted on first degree murder charges in Quick's slaying.

Had 32 Days to Serve

According to reports, Hargrove had 32 days to serve of the 60-day sentence imposed last month for assault. He reportedly told police he was on his way to telephone his wife when Mitchell surprised him.

Nation Observes Day of Prayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans observe the annual National Day of Prayer today.

In a proclamation last week, President Kennedy called on all Americans to pray that a "full measure of dignity, freedom and brotherhood" will be achieved by all people.

The President was scheduled to observe the day by visiting one of Washington's Roman Catholic churches to pray and meditate. Last year, the President went to St. Matthew's Cathedral.

Congress called for an annual day of prayer in 1952.

'Caution' Signs Removed From Oral Vaccine

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Health Department has removed many of the "caution" signals it raised last March concerning use of Type III Sabin vaccine, an oral vaccine that apparently caused polio in some persons that took it.

Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner, announced the department's latest stand on Type III vaccine in a letter Tuesday to physicians and public health officers throughout the state.

"Experience with Type III oral vaccine suggests that the hazard of getting polio from this vaccine is accceptably small when it is used for routine vaccination of persons under age 30 outside of the polio season," the letter said.

It was signed jointly by Ingraham and Dr. William L. Wheeler Jr., president of the State Medical Society.

The Sabin vaccine, which makes use of live altered polio viruses, was the subject of extensive controversy but subsequently was taken by millions of persons in all parts of the world.

Last March, the New York State Health Department recommended giving preference to the Salk vaccine for routine immunizations, because the oral vaccine apppeared to have caused polio in some recipients.

Only 7 With Paralysis

Physicians and health officers were advised at the time to reserve Type III vaccine for use only in epidemics, in which case the risk involved was outweighed by the fact that it is easier to administer and raises immunity faster than Salk vaccine, which is injected.

Ingraham said Tuesday that, while the department's recommendations remained unchanged, doctors should be told of "new developments."

He cited a report that, of 14 million persons who received Type III vaccine during the first five months of this year, only seven developed paralysis.

Furthermore, he said, it was likely that some of the seven actually did not have polio at all.

Harkins Unhurt As Plane Makes Crash Landing

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A transport plane carrying Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U. S. forces in South Viet Nam, made a wheels-up crash landing today. U.S. officials said Harkins and others aboard the plane were not hurt.

Authorities said the pilot neglected to lower the retracted landing gear.

The incident occurred at a remote airstrip at Di Linh, about 90 miles northeast of here. The four-star general and his aides were flying in a two-engine U.S. Army Caribou transport plane.

Authorities said the plane was badly damaged on impact.

None of the officers required medical treatment, although all were reported shaken up.

Harkins' command includes about 15,000 U.S. servicemen.

Victory Is Seen For Progressives In Vatican Vote

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council's progressive wing appeared today to have achieved a dominant influence at the Roman Catholic conclave following this week's votes to modernize the Mass and the sacraments.

A member of the Vatican Curia, the church's central governing body, described the votes as "a victory for the progressives"—the modern-minded element among the 2,500 church fathers.

Misunderstanding Eases

He also said the voting showed the conflict and misunderstanding between progressives and conservatives had eased.

"The council is working hard now and getting a lot done," said the Curia member, who declined to be identified. "The progressives, who want to get the church in step with the times, are having their way."

On Monday, the council approved in principle a proposal to allow use of local languages in place of Latin in parts of the Mass. The changes would be at the discretion of regional conferences of bishops.

The proposal was approved by a vote of 2,198-36. But it fell short of the required two-thirds majority because 781 of the affirmative votes were with reservations.

A council press officer said the specific ideas in the reservations will be examined by the council's liturgy commission and will be reduced to a few amendments. They will then go back to the council for another vote. Final approval appeared certain.

The proposal is contained in the second chapter of a seven-chapter schema or topic on liturgy, or public worship.

The council Tuesday approved amendments to the third chapter of the schema.

The prelates voted 2,133-19 to allow some vernacular tongues in parts of the sacraments of matrimony, holy orders, extreme unction, penance, confirmation and baptism.

Assails Censure Apathy

Bolts Manager Group Over Mitchell Row

DENVER (AP)—E. C. Monahan of Arlington, Mass., has resigned from the International City Managers' Association because, he said, the organization refused to take a stand on welfare programs like the controversial one of Newburgh, N.Y.

Monahan has been a member of the organization for 15 years.

He submitted his resignation Tuesday after accusing other members of "at least apathy" for refusing to censure Joseph Mitchell, city manager of Newburgh.

The New York community and its city manager gained attention in the summer of 1961 after Mitchell tightened welfare regulations. One of his orders was that any able-bodied man receiving welfare money must go to work for the city.

Mitchell has been suspended from the city managers' organization.

He has been acquitted of the bribery charge that resulted in suspension, but directors of the association have not reinstated him because "there is some indication he has been involved in partisan political activity," said Orin Nolting of Chicago, executive director.

At a Northeastern section meeting Tuesday, Monahan said of the Newburgh manager:

"We ought to call this guy what he is—a political opportunist with an eye on the budget and not on people."

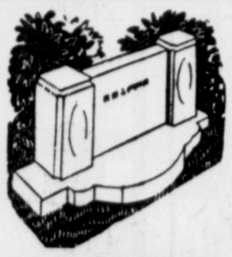

Alting said any partisan political activity is ground for suspension or expulsion from the association.

He said directors would take action on Mitchell's suspension by the next board meeting in late February, probably taking a mail ballot before that time.

The board decided not to act at present, he said, because not all the information on Mitchell's activities was available.

NEWS for truck owners who need a new one now

Things Chevrolet has developed since the last time you bought to give you more for your money:

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fleetside pickup body has two advantages. Insulation and sound-deadening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the lower inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

Suspension to fit the truck. Conventional half- and three-quarter-ton models have independent front suspension with variable rate coils in the rear. Variable rate coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Mediums and heavies have I-beam suspension with variable-rate leaf springs. It automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It means a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

The right engine. Chevrolet never has been in better position to give you the type and size you need for maximum efficiency. Today there are many different capacities of gasoline and diesel Chevrolet truck engines—fours, sixes, V8's.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. This type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted side rails are stronger.

Greater model selection. This time you're going to find it a simple matter to pick the exact type of Chevrolet truck for the kind of work you do. In delivery trucks, for instance, in addition to regular panels and pickups, we have eleven different sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with full-width rear doors.

Quality and value. Chevrolets today are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time, and yet the price tag is just about the same as 5 or 6 years ago. Call your Chevrolet dealer for information or for a demonstration.

Doesn't Talk About Bombing

Victim of Church Blast Living in Darkness Now

By JIM PURKS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Four weeks ago today Sarah Jean Collins, 12, was eagerly awaiting the start of school. Now she lies in darkness at a hospital.

Sarah Jean was injured in the blast that rocked the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church Sept. 15. Four Negro girls were killed, including her sister, Addie Mae, 14. Sarah Jean's eyes were cut by flying glass.

Sarah Jean's daily existence now is through sounds. She can't do what she likes the most—to read.

Her right eye is covered by a patch; her left eye is uncovered, but swollen and she cannot see through it. Doctors say she will probably regain useful vision.

Nurses say Sarah Jean has moments of deep despondency, and at other times peps up. Never will she volunteer to talk about the bombing.

"Sometimes my eyes hurt," she told a visitor Tuesday, running her fingers back and forth across the bandages.

Sarah Jean says she heard about the deaths of the four other girls over the radio. With the others she was getting ready to sing in the choir when the blast went off.

She has a special friend in University Hospital, C. S. Norton, a young Negro who works in the radiology department.

"She adopted me as her brother, and I've adopted her as my sister," he said. "She talks to me, but she's quiet with most everybody else."

Sarah Jean was asked how she feels about the church bomber now that a full month has passed. Her lips moved once but she said nothing.

Norton answered instead.

"Speaking for Sarah — you don't mind if I speak for you, do you Sarah?—she would love to thank people who have been nice to her, for the gifts, dolls, cards and beautiful flowers. I'm sure everyone is praying that she gets her sight back.

"As for the bomber, people are praying for him. We wonder what he would be thinking today, if he had children. No one knows who bombed the church but God. . . . He will face God. We turn this problem over to God, because no one else can solve Birmingham's problems. We leave it up to God to solve them."

"Isn't that how you've felt, Sarah?" Norton asked gently.

Her head still bowed, she nodded slightly.

Drought Covers

have already caused in the past several weeks was available. But the Wabash Valley Association in Indiana said that drought damage in southern Indiana and southeastern Illinois alone may total between $35 million and $50 million.

No Immediate Break

There appeared no immediate, general break in the long dry, mild spell across much of the eastern half of the country. Record high temperatures have been set in scores of cities in the first half of October, with readings in the 90s and upper 80s.

However, some heavy thunderstorms erupted in the Central Plains and Mississippi Valley. Thunderstorms accompanied by lightning struck West Central Kansas with the first rain of consequence since Sept. 2. A four-hour storm which dumped 2.55 inches of rain on Hutchinson.

In the Southeast, 1.02 inches were recorded during a six-hour period in Miami, Fla. Thundershowers also fell on many other parts of Florida.

N.Y. Hardest Hit

Hundreds of fires have burned thousands of acres of forestland in more than a dozen states. New York state's vast and valuable forestlands appeared hardest hit. But fires also spread across other areas in the Northeast, including Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire.

Flames also whipped through wooded areas in West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas.

Hundreds of volunteers joined firemen in fighting the fires.

In Michigan, Gov. George Romney's ban on fires in forests, fields and woodlands goes into effect today, the first such statewide order in 17 years. Fire danger was rated very high, and "explosive" in a few areas.

Rivers Are Low

In Pennsylvania, Gov. William W. Scranton banned smoking and campfires in state forests. Nearly 200 forest fires have been reported in the state in October.

Some of the nation's biggest rivers were at or near record low levels. Included were Pennsylvania's three major river systems, the Allegheny-Monongahela-Ohio, the Susquehanna adn the Delaware. Lower water levels also have curtailed the barge traffic on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

Area Observers Report No Fires In Area Woodlands

While upstate Conservation Department officials reported a rash of forest fire outbreaks Tuesday night, John Baldwin, a Division of Lands and Forests observer at the Overlook fire tower, reported no outbreaks in area woods shortly before noon.

Baldwin said he and observers in other towers in Ulster County and vicinity, had seen no fires in the woodlands Tuesday or up to 11 a. m. today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Albany gave no immediate hope for relief from the hazardous conditions of woodlands. The bureau said the weather will remain hot and dry, with no immediate prospect of rain.

It was feared that winds of from 10 to 20 miles an hour today may add to the threat.

Golfers Can't Smoke

It was reported at noon today that nine selected holes at the Wiltwyck Country Club golf course had been opened, but no-smoking restrictions are in effect. Woodstock Country Club golf course remained closed.

The regular Wednesday night trap shoot at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club, held at St. Remy, has been canceled.

The state ban invoked by the lieutenant governor, went into effect at 8 p. m. Sunday. The order prohibits any type of fire in the woods or any place in the open.

No Burning, Hunting

All burning permits have been canceled and hunting and fishing has been halted until the present situation clears.

The forest fire epidemic reached into Rensselaer County last night, and the deputy fire coordinator, Bill Brown charged "someone keeps setting them as fast as we can get them under control.

Forest Ranger Walter Hitchcock said many of the upstate fire outbreaks appeared to be the work of a firebug. His investigation, he noted, showed that four of the fires were "definitely of incendiary nature."

Howard A. Lewis

former Margaret Crawford; three daughters, Mrs. Richard E. Kuehne of Rock Terrace, Orange County; Mrs. George Hutton Jr., of Hamden, Conn., and Mrs. Richard Goff of Alexandria, Va.; also, nine grandchildren.

Great Loss: Mayor

In a statement on the passing of Mr. Lewis, Mayor John J. Schwenk said:

"In the passing of Howard A. Lewis, Kingston has suffered a great loss.

"For many years Mr. Lewis gave unstintingly of his time and talents to promote programs which would benefit the community as a whole. He served the city well and faithfully in the capacity of chairman of the Citizens Executive Advisory Committee for Urban Renewal, as a director of the local Chamber of Commerce and as a member of the Senate House Committee.

"On behalf of our citizens I extend to the family sincere sympathy in their bereavement."

Seek 3,000 Names On Ulster List For Zoning Law

Donald Glass, chairman of the Ulster Citizens for Zoning Group, announced Tuesday night at a meeting in Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, that his committee had set a goal of 3,000 signatures for petitions requesting the Town of Ulster town board to take necessary steps as provided by law leading to the adoption of a "limited" zoning ordinance for the town.

Dec. 1 Deadline

He also requested that those members not present contact Doris Mulvin of Lake Katrine or himself to obtain their petitions so that a December 1 deadline may be met. Also, he said, he would like to re-emphasize that the type of zoning law desired is much less strict than that advocated in 1957.

"Primarily we hope to see those areas that are business or residential remain so," he said. Underdeveloped areas would be decided upon after regional meetings with the Zoning Commission.

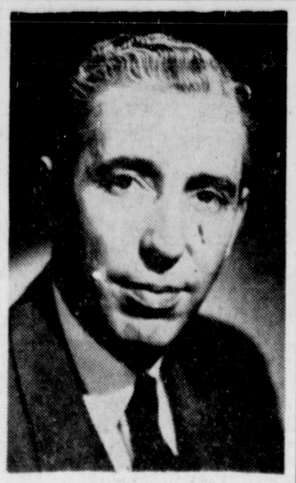

Cites Rapid Growth

Edward Divine of the Ulster Planning Board, explained the wording of the petitions and said that "zoning is probably the most serious problem facing the town today if it is to grow economically and with order." He also cited the rapid growth of the town and stated that in the years 1940 to 1950 the population grew at the rate of 9.1 per cent to 4,400, while from 1950 to 1957 it grew at the rate of 63 per cent.

"In 1960 there were 8,411 people in the town of Ulster and it presently is growing faster than the projected rate," he said.

"Probably the biggest bone of contention in the 1957 zoning was the way the town was divided. I think we should take a fresh look at the town and zone as we would like to see it today, not 20 or 30 years from now," he said.

JOSEPH P. FOLEY

Paltz Man Gets Cancer Job Again

A New Paltz resident, Joseph P. Foley, was reelected vice-president of the New York State Division, American Cancer Society, at the society's annual meeting in Rochester today.

Dr. Glenn H. Leak of Buffalo was elected president.

Foley has served the Cancer division for the past 18 years and has been vice-president since 1951. He was the winner of the 1960 distinguished service award given by the division at its annual banquet in January of 1961.

He is administrative assistant to the resident vice-president of IBM, Poughkeepsie.

Davis Is Winner In Georgia Vote; Negro Places 2nd

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — A 45-year-old white segregationist has won the Democratic nomination for mayor of this racially troubled Southwest Georgia city where a Negro sought the office for the first time.

Well Above Majority

Attorney James V. Davis received 7,220 votes Tuesday, well over a majority of those cast in a record turnout, making a runoff unnecessary. Nomination in the primary means election.

Slater King, a Negro integration leader, was second with 2,547 votes.

The second white man in the race, architect Edward V. Jones, was third with 1,879 votes. He also is a segregationist and opposed formation of any biracial committees.

The outcome indicated little, if any, change in race relations in this city where more than 1,200 arrests were made during intermittent demonstrations the past two years.

Davis said he thought that "what will be done for the colored people will have to be done within the framework of segregation."

King, acting president of the Antisegregation Albany Movement, called for creation of a biracial committee to discuss grievances. None has been established.

Over 11,500 Voted

The racial issue and clear, sunshiny weather brought a turnout of more than 11,500 voters.

Albany's 58,000 population includes about 24,000 Negroes. There are an estimated 4,600 Negroes among the 16,436 registered voters.

Democrats Reduce

when the committee meets:

A return to the bonus system. It would reward with larger representation those states — mostly east of the Mississippi—which voted for President Kennedy in 1960.

No bonuses, but a reduction in voting power of those states which lost representation in Congress because of population shifts in 1950 and 1960 but, in effect, never lost any of their convention votes.

A combination of the two that would allocate votes on an up-to-date population basis plus bonus votes for multiples of Democratic votes in 1960, regardless of whether Kennedy carried the state.

Also expected to come up is a hardy quadrennial — the number of persons at a Democratic convention.

Republicans limit their state delegations to a one man-one vote basis. But Democrats over the years have split things up into half votes. That way more delegates get to go to the convention, a form of reward for party faithful.

But it also can be confusing. In 1960, there were 3,042 delegates authorized to cast 1,521 votes at the Los Angeles convention. And that didn't include more than 1,400 persons present as alternates.

To the politician, however, the number of delegates isn't nearly so important as the number of votes allotted each state.

Some critics felt the 1960 convention was weighted in favor of many—but not all—Southern and far Western states.

Hurt in Crash

A 24-year-old man was injured at 7:45 a. m. today when his car was involved in a collision on the Malden Turnpike, Malden. Trooper David Wachtel of the Kingston sub-station said the cars were operated by Peter Calia, 68, of RD 1, Catskill, and Frank Korolko, 24, Haines Falls. Calia was making a left turn into a driveway, and Korolko was attempting to pass when the crash occurred, Wachtel reported. Korolko suffered injuries of the head and lacerations of the knees. He said he would see his own physician.

By-laws Taken Up by Firemen at Ellenville Parley

Several matters were taken up at the October meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association which met Tuesday night in Ellenville as guests of the Ellenville departments. The meeting was held in the Scorsby fire rooms with President Herbert Faurote presiding. William McCombs welcomed the firemen on behalf of the Ellenville companies.

Among the matters taken up was the new by-laws which will be published soon. An amendment to the by-laws which will permit the association to spend an additional sum of not over $50 for trophies for the annual convention was given a first reading and will have its final reading in November. New dates for the annual convention and parade were set. The convention in 1964 will be held in Rosendale on August 6, 7, and 8 with the parade being held at 5 p. m. on August 8.

Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder made an appeal to all volunteer firemen to assist in enforcing the present ban on all types of fires. He asked the cooperation of all volunteer companies during the present dry spell, when all types of fires are banned, to assist the Conservation Department men in enforcing the fire regulations. If they cannot stop violations of the order, all burning violations should be reported to the Conservation officials.

Reports on Calls

In his report to the Association Fire Coordinator Snyder reported 1,191 calls had been received at Fire Control Headquarters during August and September. Of these 109 were for fires, eight were mutual aid calls; four were false alarms; one was for intercounty and the balance were for tests or other use.

A report was given by Raymond Morris on the recent Field Day which was sponsored by the Association at the New York State Armory. Seventeen companies participated in the contests and the affair was such a success that plans are being made to hold the Field Day again next year.

James Hicks, chairman of the Fire Prevention Week committee, thanked the members who assisted in placing the window display in the Central Hudson windows. He also announced that the winners in the essay contest among eighth grade students in the county would be announced at the November meeting. Hicks, who has been named chairman of the County Fireman's Association committee in the Muscular Dystrophy drive of November 17, asked cooperation of all fire companies. He asked that volunteers give all assistance possible in their towns to aid in the drive.

Proposals Approved

Charles F. Peterson of Bloomington was named chairman of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association publicity committee.

Samuel Jeffree of Highland was elected to membership in the association.

A report was given on the meeting of the Mid-Hudson Clearing House committee in Newburgh where proposed legislation was discussed. The committee approved five proposals affecting volunteer firemen and will report that action to the legislature.

Hurley Meeting Nov. 19

The next meeting will be held on November 19 when the Hurley Firemen will be host to the association.

There will be no meeting in December due to the holiday season. Meetings scheduled for 1964 are:

January at West Hurley. February, Kingston. March at Centerville. April at Kripplebush. May at Sawkill. June at Rosendale and July will be convention meeting.

The meeting adjourned out of respect to the memory of Lewis (Casey) Jones, on motion of Secretary Fred C. Harder.

Two Are Injured In Traffic Here

Two persons were injured in city traffic mishaps Tuesday.

Robert Chase, 34, of 184 Wrentham Street, suffered a fractured right forearm when the bicycle he rode struck the parked car of Matthew A. Weishaut, of 44 Wood Street, at Fair and Pearl Streets shortly after 4 p. m. He was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Linda Coumbes, 9, of 90 German Street, suffered a shoulder injury in an earlier car-pedestrian mishap at Andrew and Levan streets. Police said she ran from the sidewalk as a car operated by Frederick B. Harpes, of Route 5, Box 46, Kingston, was headed west on Andrew Street. The girl was treated at the Benedictine Hospital.

Lipton Buses Are

eration upstate for about two years.

Use of tokens or tickets in the fare system is being considered.

Scheduled runs, with the exception of the added bus on Broadway, will be the same as those now in effect. Lipton has indicated, however, that improvements will be made later if found feasible.

None of the buses of the present operator is to be used.

NEW YORK (AP) — Drugs were strong in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional but some blue chips were off more sharply.

Goodrich was down 2 and Du Pont more than a point.

Gains of a point or better were made by a number of drugs.

Aside from the drugs, however, there was no apparent leadership to the market which analysts believed still to be undergoing consolidation near its recent highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 278.4 with industrials up .5, rails up .1 and utilities up .3.

Weary Fire Fighters Are Still Pressed

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (AP)—They come from New York City, Albany, Syracuse, from Fort Edward, Clemons, Hadley and nearby farms — the hundreds of men and boys who, off and on, for more than a week have battled the flames eating into New York's vast and valuable forestlands.

Ceaseless Effort

These smoke-begrimed, oftimes thirsty volunteers are engaged in a near-ceaseless effort to contain the fires cropping up in tinder-dry woods.

Today about 75 fires were reported burning in woodlands across the state. Showers were forecast for some areas but the Weather Bureau held out little prospect of a good soaking rain.

Some of the firefighters, including a group of six teen-aged boys, who had to hike for about 30 miles with scarcely a ride, slept on bare ground without blankets. When the six could stand it no longer in the 30-degree temperature in the Adirondacks, they walked a mile to a house, where they were taken in.

Reasons for Helping

Who comes to fight fires and why?

Well, a professor in Albany telephoned the Conservation Department Office, near here, to ask directions to fire-fighting Spruce Mountain, 25 miles northeast of here, between Lakes George and Champlain.

A Conservation Department supervisor, Robert E. Richards, asked why he wanted to come. The professor replied that he loved the Adirondacks.

Some come for the excitement, others to save property. It's hard work and there is plenty of confusion, with so many strangers.

One group, armed to fight a fire, missed it and walked right by to the next hamlet, Huletts Landing.

No Shelter Provided

The volunteers are paid 55 cents an hour. They generally work a 12-hour shift. Some leave after one stint. Others want to stay on. Since the state has no shelter for them, they must go elsewhere or sleep on the ground. Most have transportation of their own.

Any volunteer who checks the Conservation Department in advance is advised to wear heavy clothes and boots.

At one point, Richards said, about 400 men fought flames on Spruce Mountain and at nearby Lapland Pond. The force had dwindled by today to the neighborhood of 100. This was the mop-up operation.

The fires were believed to be contained.

But, said one veteran as he watched a youngster chopping away at the burning underground roots of an aged balsam: "That underground fire won't go out until January."

Scrap Air Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — Trans World Airlines and Pan American World Airways today scrapped their proposl to merge the two carriers into a single $1.2-billion system with 80,000 miles of routes.

"The timetable for necessary approvals, including those of the federal government, has not progressed to the point where we can look forward to consummation of the merger within a reasonable time," heads of the lines said.

Union Out

if adopted, defeat its suggested purpose. Where would one draw the line for young, inexperienced help and older experienced help? The reason and purpose for labor's continuous battle to raise state and federal minimum wages has been to raise the living standards of our people. More attempts should be made to keep our young people in school rather than tamper with the hard won gains of labor. Labor will not sit idly by and allow such suggestions to become a reality."

New York City Bonds Good Tax-Exempt Buy

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q: "You often mention municipals in your column but rarely suggest City of New Yorks. Is there any particular reason why New York City obligations should be avoided?" L.R.

A) If you will allow me to correct you, I have frequently mentioned New York City bonds here—five times in 1963 alone.

In my opinion, there is not only no reason why City of New Yorks should be avoided—there are many reasons why the bonds are a good buy for those seeking tax exemption.

New York is the financial capital of the world, and it is impossible for me to visualize any defaut on its obligations. In spite of a political atmosphere that has not always been harmonious (to say the least), the taxing power of New York is very great indeed. Right now you can buy New York City 3.70's (when issued) due in 1989 and callable in 1981 to yield 3.45 per cent to the nearest call date. I consider these bonds an attractive buy at that level.

Q) "I hold shares of Hill's Supermarket, bought at 26. What are the prospects for this stock? Should I hold for recovery? I also have a few hundred dollars now to invest. Should I add to my holdings of Hill's or buy something else?" D.Z.

A) I am glad to tell you that it looks to me as if your Hill's Supermarket is going to work out well for you.

Earnings here have been in a general uptrend since 1955 and rose 48 per cent in the 39 weeks ended August 31, 1963, reflecting good management as well as seven new store openings in the previous year. The shares have recently moved higher to new 1963 peaks in a weak market, and I would retain my holdings.

Since your capital seems limited and you hold no other shares, I believe you should make a new purchase to diversify. I suggest Marine Midland, a strong New York State bank holding company, as an investment for additional funds.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Launches Series For Rhinebeck Baptist Church

A well-known Bible teacher will start a series of talks tonight at First Baptist Church, Rhinebeck.

The Rev. Walter R. Martin, who also is widely acknowledged in the field of religious cults and sects, is scheduled to speak nightly, excluding Saturday, through Sunday, Oct. 20. Services are scheduled for 8 p. m. He also will be heard twice on Sunday at 11 a. m. and 6:30 p. m.

Ordained a Baptist minister, the Rev. Mr. Martin served as associate with the late Dr. Donald Grey Barnhouse of Philadelphia's 10th Presbyterian Church. He is a member of the Conservative Baptist Association of America, the National Association of Evangelicals and the Evangelical Theological Society. He also is assistant professor of English Bible at King's College, Briarcliff Manor.

The Rhinebeck meetings will be interdenominational in character and are open to the public.

counties. Of the 37 counties with increased tax levies, 35 permitted spending increases to outdistance estimated revenue increases, leading to the boost in tax levies.

In two counties—St. Lawrence and Schuyler — spending decreased by a smaller amount than the decrease in estimated revenues.

Counties where estimated revenues increased more than spending increased were Albany, Allegany, Chautauqua, Chemung, Columbia, Essex, Hamilton, Herkimer, Madison, Niagara, Ontario, Oswego, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Seneca, Steuben, Tompkins, Washington, and Yates.

Increases in real property tax levies for county purposes ranged from a low of .01 per cent in Livingston County to Suffolk's 31.1 per cent. Decreases in tax levies ranged from Herkimer's .01 per cent to 10.2 per cent in Yates County.

The great variations in the size of tax levies, said the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, largely reflect variations in population and the size of the county governments needed to provide services and facilities.

Personal Income Jumps to Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income jumped by almost $1.5 billion in September to a record annual rate of $466.5 billion, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department's Office of Business Economics said the September figure was $21 billion, or 4.5 per cent, higher than for the same month last year.

Nearly all of the August-to-September increase was in wages and salaries. Part of it reflected increased payrolls under the new federal minimum wage law effective Sept. 3.

The bureau said that since February, when there was a slight dip, personal income has advanced by an average of $2 billion a month. The increase during the third quarter averaged $1.25 billion a month.

The third - quarter increase was just half the $2.5 billion average monthly gain reported during the second quarter.

Factory payrolls hit an annual rate of $99 billion in September, about one-third of a billion higher than in August.

What Does Ulster County's Community Chest Give You?

Last year you gave $162,000 to the member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest. These agencies, who answer the social and welfare needs of the old, the young, the sick and poor among our county's 126,000 citizens, include:

The Association for Retarded Children, Boy Scouts of America, Gateway Industries for the Handicapped, Girl Scouts of America, Jewish Community Center of Kingston, Kingston Boys Club, Salvation Army, United Cerebral Palsy, USO, YMCA and YWCA. Community Chest areas, besides Kingston, take in Marbletown, New Paltz, Rosendale, Saugerties, Hurley, Esopus and the Town of Ulster.

Your contributions to the one-for-many 1962 Ulster County Community Chest meant for the United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, Inc., in the Chest area, $22,103. Here is what they gave you in return:

6,887 Visits Made

Last year, nearly 400 handicapped children from areas throughout Ulster County made 6,887 visits to the CP Center at 400 Broadway, Kingston for diagnosis and treatment of their speech, hearing and muscular defects. Of this number, 19 children were able to be graduated as requiring no further formal therapy and 768 children were treated at no cost or with minimal payments.

In addition, from your allocations to the 1962 Community Chest, the Center was able to accommodate 174 new child patients; lend equipment to 37 individuals other than patients, including adults; give over 2,550 hours of physical, speech and occupational therapy at the Center.

As the only state authorized and qualified agency in Ulster County for the treatment of physical involvements from CP and other crippling diseases, the Center maintains a clinic, nursery and full time staff of therapists. Their consultant staff includes some of the County's leading medical practitioners in orthopedics, speech and hearing pathology,, clinical psychology and in brace and appliance making.

All of the CP Center's non-profit services — psychometric testing, Psychological counseling, audiometric testing and fitting of hearing aids, nursery and supply of special appliances and equipment—are available to handicapped children from six months of age to 18 years without regard to color, creed or geographical location.

Needs Are Urgent

In 1963, the agency appeals through the Community Chest drive and its own drive outside Community Chest areas for funds to help them with some specific and urgent needs:

1. To purchase some highly specailized and expensive equipment required in the conservation of hearing program.

2. To maintain its present profesional staff and add an additional full time speech therapist and a full time secretary.

3. To enble them to pay taxi fare for children without other transportation.

4. To expand its staff and facilities so that the Center can start to treat the children on its waiting lists who cannot get the specialized help they need except from the CP Center in Kingston.

5. To make it possible to continue the agency' practice of giving treatment without charge or at reduced costs to those who cannot afford the agency's usual minimal fees.

CP cares for children. They hope you will too as they join with other member agencies of the Community Chest in pointing out:

In the 1963 Ulster County Community Chest fund drive—the more you give, the more you get. If you cannot give your full share, won't you give a fair share?

A SMILE OF TRUST—Youngster has brace fitted by specialist at Cerebral Palsy Center. Last year almost 400 handicapped children made 6,887 visits to the Center at 400 Broadway for therapy and other services.

Survivors, Italy Government Join Recovery Plans

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) —The Survivors of the Vaiont Dam disaster and the Italian government acted together Tuesday to bring life back to the desolate region.

Despite fears of another disaster, the death toll and the appalling destruction, there were signs the flood-stricken area might indeed live again.

With the death toll estimate between 2,300 and 3,000, hundreds of persons still were missing. But army commanders said it appeared pointless to keep up full-scale digging operations in the hardened mud much longer.

In Rome, Premier Giovanni Leone's Cabinet voted a series of crash measures to start the disaster area toward recovery.

All taxation of communities in the area was suspended until further notice. Local budgets will be supplemented as needed. Special funds were voted to speed new construction.

The government ordered state road, railroad and communications agencies to undertake an emergency program to get services back to normal as soon as possible.

In Longarone, hardest hit community, the seven surviving members of the 15-man Municipal Council voted to start rebuilding if the government would help.

ADVANCED TO STAR RANK—Four Boy Scouts of Kingston Troop 9 were advanced to Star Rank at a recent court of honor held in the assembly room of Redeemer Lutheran Church. Six scouts advanced to Second Class and two to First Class. The new Star Scouts receiving their pins from Advancement Chairman Harvey Krause, are (l-r) George Freer, Raymond Wells, Robert Bruce and James Christensen. Advanced to Second Class were Paul Bach, Stephen Bliss, Alex Nunes, Charles Filocco, John Hasbrouck and Robert Schwenk. New First Class scouts are Lawrence Wonderly and David Krause. (Freeman photo)

City Manager Franklin T. Gerlach said he has been informed that nurses are available in Ireland and he is looking into the possibility of importing some.

Women Want Work

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Churchwomen are "chafing at the bit," says Sister Marie Freese, a Lutheran deaconess who attended the recent World Assembly of Lutherans in Helsinki, Finland. "They want more to do," says the 67-year-old deaconess, who attends the health needs of 52 persons in a residence area for the aged.

Price-Restricting Is Charged to 19 Manufacturers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nineteen manufacturers of cardboard boxes have been charged with price-restricting in eight southeastern states in violation of antitrust laws.

The Justice Department, in a civil complaint filed Monday in the U.S. District Court in Greensboro, N.C., asked the court to forbid the firms to swap information about prices or conditions of sale.

The complaint accused the 19 firms of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act and asked the court to bar any agreements among the companies to eliminate or suppress price competition.

The firms sell $200 million worth of corrugated cardboard boxes annually.

The firms include Continental Can Co., Inc., International Paper Co., St. Regis Paper Co., and Union Bag-Camp Paper Corp., all of New York City; and the Waterbury Corrugated Container Co., Waterbury, Conn.

Carabao for the Corps

HILO, Hawaii (AP)—A brace of carabao — traditional beasts of burden in Pacific and Asian countries—have been sent to the Peace Corps training center on Hawaii island. The animals, a 15-year-old bull and a 10-year-old cow, arrived in Hilo by barge from Oahu Island, 200 miles away, and were trucked inland to a rice paddy next to a model Asian village. Corps volunteers are training in Hawaii under simulated conditions and thought the long-horned beasts would add another touch of realism. Most corpsmen from the Hilo facility wind up in Asian countries.

Historical Group Hears Speaker on Early Furniture

A large and interested audience at the recent Ulster County Historical Society dinner heard Norman S. Rice, curator of the Albany Institute of History and Art, lecture on Albany furniture.

Beginning with an old map of the little village of Fort Orange huddled wtihin its stockade, at a time when pigs and poultry roamed the muddy streets, the speaker went on to show the steep roofed houses of ancient Dutch design and, after the conquest of New Netherlands, the English design in flat corniced roofs and houses of brick and clapboard. These taken from early watercolors and prints. Slides of beautiful furniture, many branded with the initials of the makers and owners, from the Van Rennselaer and Ganssvoort families were also shown. Some of these eventually were made locally but many were made in New York and shipped to Albany on sloops as were many beautiful pieces from Europe. Many of these are in the possession of the museum or in restored houses such as the Schuyler house. Much of the information about these was obtained from old bills of lading, cabinet makers accounts or cabinet makers advertisements in old newspapers, the speaker said.

At the business meeting preceding the lecture the following officers were elected. President, John P. Remensnyder vice presidents, Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, New Paltz; Charles G. Ellis, Harry Rigby Jr., Mrs. Howard Lewis, all of Kingston; secretary, Miss Grace Elliot, New Paltz; treaurer, G. V. D. Hutton, Kingson. Mrs. E. Crane Chadbourne was elected honorary trustee and Herbert Cutler, Kingston, and Mrs. Jansen H. Preston, Saugerties for three years.

Remensnyder in his president's report summed up the activities and accomplishments of the year and outlined activities for the future which he believed would bring the society into greater usefulnes in the community.

Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton was in charge of the dinner assisted by Mrs. Edward DeWitt, Miss Helen Sh[illegible]on, and Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mother, Spare the Rod

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My mother-in-law keeps my 20-month-old girl while I work. She adores the baby who is never any trouble to her at all. But the child so resents any restraints from me that she has bitten me several times. My husband says that there is something in my attitude toward her that upsets her. She is never any trouble to him when he looks after her. This is my first child and I know very little about babies.

ANSWER: Your little girl may not know you well enough to accept restraits from you.

It is your mother-in-law who is creating intimacy with her from which trust of discipline develops. It is she who feeds your baby, bathes her, plays "This Little Pig Went to Market" with her toes, dresses her and introduces her to store windows and your neighbor's new puppies. You come home at night, a comparative stranger to her.

You've been tricked into competing with her for the title of "Best Controller of the Baby." You've allowed yourself to be made ashamed of your failure to match her easy authority over the baby without once asking yourself, "Is this competition fair? Can I reasonably expect this baby to trust me as much as her grandmother when her grandmother is the person who shares most of her waking life?"

You can't expect this. So start using what time you have with your baby, not in competitive displays of control, but for sharing experiences with her. Let the dishes wait for bedtime stories. Make Saturday lunches into picnics on the floor. Window shop with your baby. Crayon pictures with her. Play with her, be with her until you have accumulated enough happy experiences between you to make your restrictions trustworthy to her.

It is quite possible, you know, that your baby resents your daily absence from her.

And that this resistance which so discourages you is a passionate wish for mother's presence, not rejection of her at all.

Such a view of it would alter its whole meaning, wouldn't it? It would replace your humiliation with pride. It would end competition with grandma. It would arouse tenderness for the resentment instead of fear. I'd like you to take this view of it, not only because it would restore your baby to you but because I believe it's the true one.

Banyo, Ohlson Speak Monday for Ulster Kiwanis

The candidates for Town of Ulster supervisor in the November 5 elections were featured speakers as members of the Ulster Kiwanis observed "Political Night" Monday in Ang-El's Restaurant.

Orvil Norman introduced Alexander J. Banyo, Republican incumbent who seeks re-election, and his Democratic opponent, Robert Ohlson. Kiwanians obtained background material about the candidates.

Ohlson has been a quality engineer with IBM for nine years. Prior to that he was with the Singer Sewing Machine Co. He is a Marine Corps veteran of World War 2. Ohlson resides on the Ruby-Sawkill Road with his wife and four children.

Banyo was born in the Town of Ulster and has resided in the township 23 years. He spent most of his adult life doing educational work. He became town supervisor in 1958, when the then supervisor, Robert Pardee, resigned because of ill health, and has served in that office since. Banyo spent eight years in the insurance business and recently returned to school teaching.

A debate followed the introduction of the candidates and both candidates participated in a question and answer period in which they gave their views and opinions on town government and party beliefs.

In other business, four members of the Beacon Kiwanis made an interclub visit as guests of the Ulster club. They included Emery Hager, John Webb, Lorenzo Acker and George Sorenson.

Prospective Ulster Kiwanis members introduced were Chester Difley and Charles O'Keefe.

BALTIMORE (AP) — One not unexpected problem developed when Baltimore physicians signed and returned cards to the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

The doctors were ordering chest X-ray prescription pads. A special volunteer to decipher the cards was needed because almost half of them carried illegible signatures.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — What must be one of the historic events of television took place Tuesday with the "Town Meeting of the World."

To accommodate Telstar II it was shown at 8:30 a.m., EDT, but CBS, American host of the hour-long program will rebroadcast it tonight at 7:30-8:30.

Four eminent churchmen sat down together, electronically speaking, to discuss what CBS called "The Christian revolution."

In Rome there was Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika and a Catholic writer, the Rev. Hans Kung of West Germany. From London came the Right Rev. Leslie Newbigin, a Presbyterian who is head of his church in South India. From Princeton, N.J. Theological Seminary came the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry of the American Lutheran Church.

Telstar was temperamental throughout the program and on several occasions the sound was lost from Rome.

The big questions raised, many involving Christian unity and the population explosion, sounded controversial but the answers were never heated.

Richard Boone's recent automobile accident disrupted, along with his own NBC series, this week's "Password" plans. The CBS game show, taped recently in Hollywood, had booked Boone for its day-time panel along with Jane Wyatt.

When Boone was unable to appear on the Monday and Tuesday shows, host Allen Ludden joined the panel while announcer Jack Clark took over Ludden's job. As a player, Ludden committed all of the sins which he, as moderator, frowns upon. He used his hands to amplify clues and once threw out a two-word clue which brought a reprove from the judges.

Recommended tonight: "Town Meeting of the World," CBS, 7:30-8:30 (EDT) — religious leaders in Rome, London and Princeton, N. J. discuss the "Christian Revolution"; Saga of Western Man," ABC, 10-11 — "1492," first of a four part series, describes the life and times of Columbus.

No reason why you can't add herbs to that gravy! Try tarragon for chicken, oregano for lamb, basil for beef.

Birth and Growth of Flora Hurricane Traced by Writer

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Staff Writer

The day: Thursday, Sept. 26, 1963. The exact time: Unknown. The place: The tropical Atlantic, 3,000 miles southeast of the Florida coast.

The day is hot, sultry, oppressive. The wind blows in fitful gusts. The heaving sea is gray and sluggish as molten lead.

A whiff of warm, damp air rises from the sea, like smoke drifting up a chimney. Other air takes its place and is caught in the updraft. Very, very slowly, an air column grows.

Rising, the warm air expands and cools. The water in it condenses and falls. Heat is released, adding energy to the thing that has formed.

Affected by the spinning of the earth, the air begins to revolve around a hollow center.

Erratically, the darkening column begins to drift westward with the trade winds.

Orbiting over the South Atlantic on Sept. 26, the Tiros 7 weather satellite photographed a poorly organized circular motion in a cloud mass.

Forecasters mark this down as an "area of suspicion" and plan to keep an eye on it.

SUNDAY, Sept. 29

6 p.m. The captain of a ship 350 miles east of Trinidad reports he is encountering light squalls and rising seas. His barometer is falling.

A hurricane hunter plane is readied at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, for a flight the next morning.

MONDAY, SEPT. 30

10 a.m. The hurricane hunter thrusts his plane through the "wall of the eye" of a small but tightly wound and "very dangerous" hurricane. It is moving fast toward the island of Tobago.

Tobago has two hours to prepare. The eye of the hurricane reaches the coast at noon.

Houses collapse under the 100-mile-an-hour winds. Torrential rain triggers floods. Towering tides bury the beaches. Seventeen islanders die.

TUESDAY, OCT. 1

In Haiti, the Negro nation on the island of Hispaniola, the sound of the sea is subtly changing. From far out comes a single long, low swell. It hits the shore of the Tiburon Peninsula with an unexpected boom. Slowly, another comes, and another.

Flora, still far away, is growing more violent.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 2

1 p.m. The waves are breaking high over the coast of Hispaniola. The weather remains calm. Wisps of cirrus clouds spread a pale, milky haze over the sky.

Midnight: A swirling breeze intrudes on the stillness and rustles the palm fronds in Haiti. The air is charged with electricity. Breathing seems difficult.

THURSDAY, OCT. 3

8 p.m. The wall of the eye, a solid barrier of water and wind whirling savagely in toward the calm center of the hurricane, crosses the coast between Aquin and Cotes de Fer.

Funneling down the canyons between mountain ranges, gusts reach 200 miles an hour.

Solid sheets of rain turn rivers and streams into torrents. Crashing down the mountainsides, they push the crops, even the soil, into the sea.

FRIDAY, OCT. 4

1 p.m. Flora slams into Cuba's Oriente Province. Now it is the biggest hurricane in history. It torments the seas for a thousand miles, from the Bahamas to Puerto Rico.

SATURDAY, OCT. 5

A gigantic high pressure system to the north stops Flora over Cuba.

11 a.m. Flora wanders aimlessly westward, is blocked again by high pressure over the Gulf States.

SUNDAY, OCT. 6

Hurricane turns southwest back into the Caribbean, lashing Camaguey and Oriente provinces.

MONDAY, OCT. 7

The storm stalls between the cities of Camaguey and Santiago de Cuba. Never has a single area taken such a sustained beating from a hurricane.

TUESDAY, OCT. 8

After four days of fantastic rain, floods have risen to treetop level in Eastern Cuba. Some areas never touched by floodwaters become inland seas.

1 p.m. At last, the storm moves northeast off the northeast Cuban coast.

Flora is racing toward her death over the cold waters of the North Atlantic.

Now relief workers can pick their way through the mud and debris. Gradually, the awful tale unfolds:

In Haiti: More than 5,000 dead. No really accurate count is possible. Many bodies are in the sea or under the mud.

In Cuba: More than 1,000 dead. Fidel Castro's Communist regime has suffered an economic disaster.

Flora takes her place in history — the most deadly storm ever to howl out of the tropical Atlantic. The old death record of 6,000, set by the Galveston hurricane of 1900, has been exceeded.

McCardle Holds Up Verdict in Highland Death

Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCardle said today he is withholding a verdict as to the cause of death of Mrs. Margo Dietz, 25, of Reservoir Road, Highland, pending toxicological reports from the State Police laboratory.

Mrs. Dietz was found dead at the foot of the cellar stairs in her home by her husband, Gilbert, on his return from work at the IBM plant in Poughkeepsie, at about 5 p. m. Monday.

Coroner McCardle said investigation disclosed nothing that would substantiate earlier reports that Mrs. Dietz died as the result of a fall down the cellar stairs. He said it was possible she had gone to the cellar for her laundry and was ascending the stairs where she suffered a seizure.

McCardle reported the woman had been receiving treatment from a neuro-surgeon in Poughkeepsie recently. The coroner said a complete post-mortem was processed and the cause of death was not determined. He said he had requested toxicological examinations be made at the State Police Laboratory.

Hurley School Contract Goes To ERA Electric

The ERA Electric Corp. of Kingston was awarded the electrical contract for the new West Hurley School for the base bid of $64,327.00, at a special meeting of the Onteora Board of Education.

Trustee Raymond Cruthers reported that work on the three school projects (Woodstock, West Hurley, Phoenicia) is progressing well, with the Phoenicia site slightly ahead of schedule at this time. He reported that as of the meeting date the town water supply was being connected to the Phoenicia site. The contractor at Woodstock site was down to rock and preparing for blasting, while the rough grading at the West Hurley site has been completed.

Henry Hosser of Poughkeepsie was appointed Clerk of the Works for the three elementary projects commencing Oct. 7 at a weekly salary of $160.00 and a transportation allowance of 8 cents per mile within the school district. Architect Warren reported that more than 25 applications were received for the post and nine men were interviewed by the board's construction committee. It was their unanimous decision and recommendation that Hosser be appointed clerk of the works.

Trustee Harry Allen moved the acknowledgment of receipt of the Notice of Approval of Plans and Specifications, together with bond certificates of the three elementary construction projects from the State Education Department. Trustee Knight seconded the motion and it was carried.

Placed on file were legal documents prepared by the district's bonding attorneys — Hawkins, Delafield and Wood. The resolution described briefly below was offered by Trustee John W. Ebbs and seconded by Trustee Allen.

"Bond anticipation note resolution of Central School District No. 1, Towns of Olive, et al, authorizes the issuance of $1,-952,500 notes of the district in anticipation of the sale of serial bonds heretofore authorized to be issued for construction of two elementary schools (Phoenicia and West Hurley) and an addition to the Woodstock school, including incidental reconstruction."

Mrs. Brown Raps Encroachments On Area Beauty

The following letter has been submitted by Mrs. Joan Brown of the Glasco Turnpike in Woodstock:

"Once again the native beauty of Woodstock is to be desecrated. Once again money alone calls the tune while any feeling of aestheticism is relegated to the area of childish innocence, in the realm of crass commercialism.

"And once again the beauty-loving part of the populace throws up its hands in apathetic horror. The dreariest part of it all is that this has been going on for 30 years: the insidious spoilage of a particularly lovely town and the passive acceptance of this defilement. I, personally, have arrived at the point where I must recognize reality (I certainly can't say "progress"). If these new ventures must exist — one case in point being the proposed shopping center — there surely must be locations that are strategic, other than the few enchanting open meadows left in the town.

"'Pibbon development' is not just an ugly phrase. It's an actuality in too many an unhappy area. Time slips by rapidly. If we are to retain the natural loveliness that remains, we must plan for it now.

—JOAN BROWN."

Mahoney Taking To Airwaves to Defend Position

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney will take to the air—in this case, two New York City radio stations — to reply to broadcast editorials attacking his position on reapportionment of the Legislature.

Mahoney's office announced Tuesday that WMCA and WINS had agreed to grant him equal time to answer their editorials. It was further understood he would ask the same of any other stations that criticized him editorially.

The date and time of the broadcasts are pending.

Mahoney, a Buffalo Republican, contends that one court decision proclaimed New York's reapportionment formula sound and that there should be no delay in acting on that ground.

WMCA has carried to the U. S. Supreme Court its challenge of the state's 69-year-old formula for redistricting Senate and Assembly seats.

The station's contention is that the formula gives unfair weight to Upstate rural areas, to the detriment of New York City.

Gov. Rockefeller and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino have held that the state should await the court's ruling before undertaking a redistricting required by population shifts shown in the 1960 federal census.

Mahoney wants prompt action, however. He has the support of all other Republican senators, who went on record to that effect two weeks ago at a meeting called by Mahoney.

WMCA criticized Mahoney's action in an editorial aired eight times on Oct. 5 and 6. WINS broadcast an editorial supporting WMCA.

Home Economists To Hear DuPont Expert on Fibers

James P. Reynolds of the Textile Fibers Department of the Dupont company of Wilmington, Del., will be the guest speaker at the home economics sectional meeting during the New York State Teachers Association meeting at Kingston Friday 11 a. m. at Kingston High School.

He plans to discuss the continuing development of improved fibers and textile application. Reynolds will review the developments engineered in today's fibers and the process industry follows in meeting the demand for new materials.

This program should be of vital interest to the professional home economist in her work with the new and exciting textile fibers of today and tomorrow. The group will meet in the Living Center of the Vocational Building of the Kingston High School. Mrs. Eric Winkky, homemaking teacher at New Paltz Central School is the program chairman.

Administration Taking Risks to Sell CR Program

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration seems willing to risk a few political brickbats—even from its own side—to make its civil rights program palatable to Congress.

The broadened version turned out by a House Judiciary subcommittee must have seemed like a nightmare to administration civil rights strategists equipped with the latest soundings of congressional sentiment.

Thus Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy urged the full committee Tuesday to whittle the bill down to the milder proportions recommended four months ago by President Kennedy.

This, the attorney general feels, was a strong, effective bill. It could, deftly handled, get the votes to make it a law by the end of the year.

Swollen with the subcommittee's innovations, it might scare away the most dedicated civil rights supporters, Kennedy said.

His views reportedly were bitterly received by a few liberal Democrats who thought they knew Robert Kennedy well enough to think he'd be delighted by an all-out civil rights package that would widen his authority in virtually every field of American business and public life.

But these powers, Kennedy let it be known, would be more than he or any man in the United States should want to possess. They could, he believed, lead eventually to a national police force.

It has been four months since the House committee got the bill and it still hasn't turned it loose. It must journey through the Rules Committee to the House floor, to a Senate committee, to the Senate floor, through conference and then thro ' compromise before it has run its course.

Sherman Morse, Ex-N.Y. World Reporter, Dies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Sherman Morse, former New York Herald and New York World Reporter, died Monday night at the age of 93.

Morse, a resident of St. Petersburg for 20 years, was a native of Canandaigua, N.Y. His son, Richard Morse, still runs a family farm there. His widow Marion lives in St. Petersburg.

An 1891 graduate of Yale University, Morse worked on the New York Herald under James Gordon Bennet Jr. He was a reporter and city editor of the New York World, and business manager of the Niagara Falls Gazette.

Morse started in the newspaper business as an assistant for linotype operators on the Buffalo (N.Y.) Courier at $8 a week.

Funeral services will be held Thursday in St. Petersburg.

Bridey Murphy Is To Be Reborn in Print Next Year

By BOB LLOYD
Pueblo Star-Journal Staff Writer

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Remember Bridey Murphy?

Many people do, although whether this particular Bridey Murphy ever lived outside the dreams of a Colorado housewife under hypnosis is a matter for considerable argument.

Morey Bernstein, Pueblo businessman, student of parapsychology and author, insists she did. He said Bridey will be reborn again next year—in print.

Bernstein, who wrote "The Search for Bridey Murphy" nine years ago, said his new book will prove that Bridey was not a hoax and will supply new evidence for his contention that man's consciousness survives death.

Bernstein's long preoccupation with Bridey began in 1952 when a friend, Mrs. Hugh B. Tighe, agreed at a party to let him hypnotize her. Bernstein had been experimenting with hypnosis for 10 years before that.

While in deep hypnosis, Mrs. Tighe began describing in detail episodes in the life of Bridey Kathleen Murphy, including that she was born in Cork in 1789 and died in Belfast in 1964. As she lay as though in sleep and talked, Mrs. Tighe's speech and mannerisms were those of an Irish girl of little education.

Bernstein wrote his book on the basis of this and later sessions with Mrs. Tighe, who appeared in the book as "Ruth Simmons." He said the book was published in 30 countries with 205,000 hard-cover copies and 775,000 paperbacks. It was made into a movie.

Mrs. Tighe, who lives now in a Denver suburb with her husband and three daughters, made it clear she would just as soon forget all about Bridey Murphy.

She said she's had nothing to do with hypnosis since the experiments with Bernstein during which, armed with a tape recorder, he hypnotized her six to eight times over a period of 11 months. Each time Mrs. Tighe assumed the role of Bridey Murphy.

Bernstin said his new book "will be a counterattack at all levels—the hoax matter, the so-called scientific charges, the psychiatrists."

Hotel Employe Is Given Jail Term In Exposure Case

A 36-year-old hotel employe was taken into custody Tuesday afternoon on charges of indecency and operating a motor vehicle without a license in the Village of Rosendale. He later pleaded guilty to both charges.

State Police Sergeant Henry Rhodes, of the Kingston substation, booked the defendant as Lawrence Arthur Allaire, of Greenfield Park, was charged with indecent exposure, a violation of Section 1140 of the Penal Law, and being an unlicensed driver.

Arraigned before Village Police Judge Wilfred Doolittle, Rosendale, Allaire admitted both charges. He was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $100 or an additional 30 days on the indecency charge, and $10 on the license violation. The latter was suspended.

According to troopers, a Rosendale man notified authorities at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, that an unidentified man in a car exposed himself to the man's wife on James Street, Rosendale. A description of the car was given troopers, and Allaire was picked up.

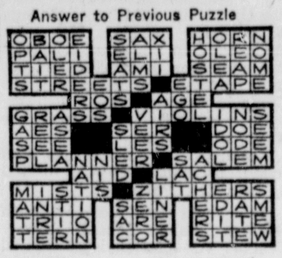

Both veal and pork chops are good braised in cream of mushroom soup.

Air Force Seeks Ex-Servicemen For Some Schools

The U. S. Air Force today issued a special call to former servicemen, from any branch, to attend certain advanced technical training schools.

According to Sgt. William D. Rice, the local Air Force Recruiter, the courses are in electronics and related fields and will be guaranteed in writing to qualified former servicemen before they enlist.

Among those schools available are radio repair, electronic, navigation equipment repair, electronic countermeasures repair, and radar tracking repair. The schools range in duration from 33 to 43 weeks.

Former servicemen who attend Air Force schools do not take basic training. They are assigned directly to the school where they are processed, issued uniforms and attend their classes.

Former servicemen who feel they can qualify for this program are asked to call Sergeant Rice or visit his office located at 597 Broadway.

Span Group Dissolves

Fund Balance Is Going to Chest

Dissolution of the Temporary Citizens Bridge Committee that directed efforts for construction of a temporary bridge over the Esopus Creek, after the span collapsed under the weight of a truck, took place Tuesday night.

The final meeting of the committee headed by Robert E. Teetsel, owner of the popular restaurant The Barn, was held at McConnell's Restaurant, with all members present. Teetsel presided at the session.

Will Destroy Lists

Petitions signed by more than 4,100 persons, supporting the committee in its effort to obtain the temporary bridge, were burned. Chairman Teetsel explained that the committee went on record to permanently destroy the lists of names, which he said, were obtained for the sole purpose of getting the temporary bridge.

Teetsel's committee expressed deep thanks and appreciation to all signers of the petitions.

By unanimous vote of the committee, the balance of committee funds will be presented to the Community Chest of Kingston. John Heitzman, chairman of the finance committee was authorized to arrange for the presentation of the check to the Community Chest officials.

The committee went on record expressing its appreciation to the press and radio "for complete cooperation in making the bridge a fact," and members also voted to extend their appreciation and thanks to state, county, city and town of Ulster public officials who fully cooperated in bringing about the Esopus Creek bridge.

Others on Committee

In addition to Chairman Teetsel and Finance Committee Chairman Heitzman, other members of the temporary bridge committee were James Byrnes, co-chairman; Charles Schaller, treasurer; Joseph McConnell, secretary, and Dave Popick, William Bryant, James Martin.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I made a lot of money with one hand and I spent it with the other. I have no regrets. Money is nice to have when you're young, but it wouldn't do me any good now."

The man speaking was Bronco Billy Anderson, who 60 years ago appeared in the first real movie, "The Great Train Robbery." He could be classed as the first real star of films.

TV Feature Next

Bronco Billy, 81, is vigorous-minded despite a leg ailment that confines him most of the time to his Wilshire District apartment. He lives in a single room, heavy with cigar smoke and mementos from his great days as Western hero and film mogul. Atop the television set rests the Oscar he was awarded in 1958 for his contributions to the screen.

He is enjoying one of his periodic re-acquaintances with the spotlight. He'll be featured on NBC-TV next Monday on David Wolper's review of the Western film, "Hollywood and the Stars." The network paired him with one of the newest cowboy stars, Gary Clarke of "The Virginian."

Thrives on Attention

The old man seems to thrive on the attention and he reminisces vividly about what he calls the diaper-days of movies.

It all started when he convinced Edwin S. Porter to expend a whole nine minutes of film on an old vaudeville sketch called "The Great Train Robbery."

"Before that, movies had been no more than two minutes long," he said. "Our backers were reluctant. They said audiences wouldn't sit still for a whole reel. I said they would, and they did."

The film was a boon to the spawning industry, and Anderson came to Los Angeles to seek locales for shooting Westerns.

Retired in 1914

"I tried making movies with authentic cowboys and backgrounds, but something was wrong; they weren't selling," he said. "I decided it was because there was no central figure for the audience to get interested in."

So he bought a Peter B. Kyne story about Bronco Billy. Finding no name actor willing to take the role, he assumed it himself. For six years he ground out Bronco Billies, retiring in 1914 under the overpowering competition of William S. Hart.

Alan Kirk Dies, Cited for Role In Sicily Invasion

NEW YORK (AP) — Adm. Alan G. Kirk, 74, a naval hero who spent 40 years in military service and then went on to high diplomatic assignments, died Tuesday in Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Was Envoy to Formosa

Kirk entered the hospital Sept. 1 for treatment of a heart ailment.

He resigned last April as ambassador to Nationalist China because of ill health. He had held the post for almost a year.

Kirk retired from the Navy in 1946 to accept appointment as ambassador to Belgium and minister to Luxembourg.

He later served three years as ambassador to Russia and for a brief period as director of the country's Psychological Strategy Board.

Kirk left a distinguished and action - packed naval career when he began his diplomatic assignments.

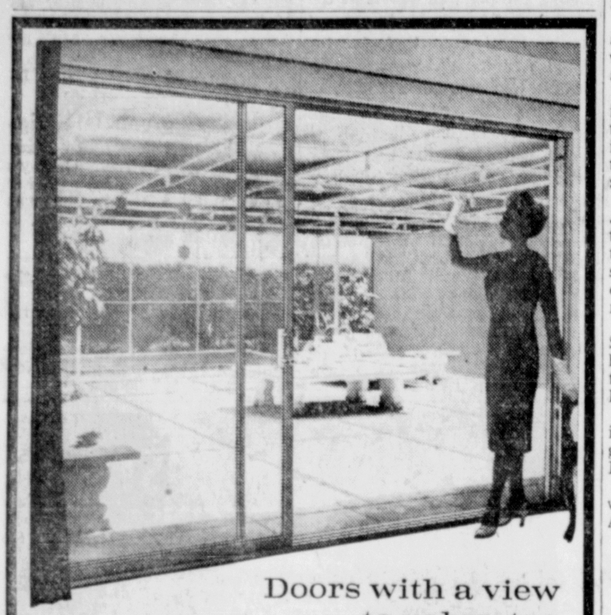

When Allied soldiers stormed into Sicily in 1943, Kirk led a task force that landed a division in less than half the scheduled time and without the loss of a single ship.

In the invasion of France on June 6, 1944, Kirk commanded the huge U.S. Naval task force that landed Allied troops and supported them by bombarding enemy installations on the Normandy beaches.

For his part in the invasion of Sicily, Kirk was invested as honorary Knight Commander of the Bath and received the U.S. Legion of Merit.

Other honors which he held included the Army Distinguished Service Medal and the French Legion of Honor.

A native of Philadelphia, he was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1909.

DR. PAUL R. PATTERSON

Nurse-Teacher Group Will Hear Child Specialist

Guest Speaker Friday for the School Nurse Section of the New York State Teachers' Association conference here will be Dr. Paul R. Patterson of Albany Medical Center.

Subject for the talk at George Washington School Auditorium, Washington Avenue, will be "Learning Disabilities in Children With Minimal Brain Damage."

Heads Pediatrics

Dr. Patterson is professor and chairman of the Department of Pediatrics of Albany Medical College, Union University, and pediatrician-in-chief of the Albany Medical Center, Albany.

He formerly was associated with the Division of Laboratories and Research of the New York State Health Department and for a number of years taught and was engaged in research at Harvard Medical School in Boston, Mass. While in Boston, he was on the staff of the Children's Medical Center.

Worked With P-TA

Dr. Patterson has completed three years as state health chairman of the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers. He has served and is serving on many national and state committees pertaining to the health of children. He has co-authored numerous articles and chapters in textbooks.

Presently, Dr. Patterson is the medical director of a research study center of learning disabilities in children. Much of his recent writing and interest has been concerned with the cooperation and the role of parents and teachers in the emotional and educational guidance of children.

Was at Clinics

A native of Bloomington, Ill., Dr. Patterson graduated from the University of Illinois College of Medicine in 1941. He spent much time in mid-west hospitals and clinics on pediatrics, and became director of the Children's Clinic in Seattle, Wash.

He saw military service in the Navy and Marine Corps.

Teachers, administrators and school psychologists are invited to hear Dr. Patterson.

A business session of the South Eastern Zone School Nurse-Teacher Association is scheduled for 9:15 a. m. at the George Washington School.

Say Cooperative Atomic Plant Possible on L. I.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's atomic experts say it would be financially feasible for the state and federal governments and the electric utility industry jointly to construct and operate an atomic power and desalination unit on Long Island.

Such a venture is "well within the cooperative capability" of government and private interests, the State Atomic Research and Development Authoirty reported Tuesday.

The authority said such a plant could be operated at costs competitive with those of other types of power plants.

That conclusion was contained in a survey on the economic factors of the proposed plant.

The engineering firm of Burns and Roe Inc., which made the survey, estimated the cost of the power plant at $63,400,000.

*Plus 10% Federal Tax

NOT JUST A FEW BUT EVERY ITEM IN OUR STORE IS SAVINGS PRICED! EVERY DAY IS SAVINGS DAY, WHY PAY MORE

Tradition, Vanity Rule Out Joint Effort on Tax Slash

WASHINGTON (AP)—Everybody would like to get a pay raise. That, in effect, is what the bill to cut federal taxes by $11 billion would amount to — more take-home pay.

So, impatient taxpayers, weary of delay, may be excused for asking:

Why does the Senate Finance Committee have to go over ground already covered by the House Ways and Means Committee in nine months of work on the bill?

Why couldn't the Senate and House committees meet jointly, and whip the whole thing together at the same time? Or why couldn't the Senate committee go to its separate work in advance of House passage of a tax bill?

Must Start in House

The answer to these questions is a combination of tradition, practicality and a bit of vanity on the part of Congress members.

Taking these things in order:

Tradition — Legislation dealing with taxes has to originate in the House — the Constitution requires it—and senators traditionally have hung back until the House finished its work.

This has been true not only of the present Senate Finance Committee under Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., but also of committees in previous Congresses, under Republican as well as Democratic chairmen.

The Constitution does not say the Senate must wait until the House is finished, but that leads into the second explanation:

Practicality — Until the House Ways and Means Committee finishes its public and executive hearings, there literally isn't a tax bill in existence. The House hearings are held on the President's tax message, not a bill, and what winds up in the House bill can be far different from what the President proposed.

Byrd and other chairmen have contended it would be a waste of time for the Senate committee to hold hearings on something that may not be in the House bill at all. Until the House sends over a bill, interested witnesses have no clear idea of what the Senate has to deal with.

The Senate acts as a sort of court of appeals for officials of the executive branch of the government and others who want to ask changes in what the House has voted. In this situation it makes sense to wait and see what various interests might want to appeal.

Won't Be Stampeded

Vanity and Prestige — The House Ways and Means Committee is a powerful one, and proud of it. Its members would hardly be eager to hold joint sessions with senators, as senators have something of a reputation for stealing the show when they get a chance.

There's still another important personal element in the present situation:

Byrd doesn't want to cut in taxes without assurance of a cut in spending and he's not one to be stampeded.

Rondout Students Receive Awards For Agriculture

Dr. E. Noble, state supervisor of the Bureau of Agriculture Education, last week presented agricultural awards to the students studying vocational agriculture at Rondout Central School.

The students were evaluated on the records of their supervised farming projects and the growth of their enterprise during 1962-63 school year.

These awards are given to students who have shown superior work and enthusiasm. Only one award was given in each area.

The winners are as follows:

Star Greenhand—Michael Redmond for his leadership ability. He also completed a supervised farming project which was a dairy calf.

Dairy Farming—Gorden Bell his outstanding work in dairy farming. He has tested and kept records on his father's farm. He has also completed his supervised farming project on dairy calves.

Farm Mechanics — Edward Croswell for superior work in farm mechanics. He completed his supervised project on dairy calves. He has also done outstanding work in farm mechanics.

Livestock — Vinton Wynkoop, whose supervised farming project is sheep. Since the beginning of the year he has expanded his project.

Crop Farming—Eddy Kelly with an emergency crop won this award. He grew a millet crop which he harvested for hay.

Public Speaking—Robert Milewski, Future Farmers of America secretary for 1962-63 received this award.

Rather than staggering pictures up a stairwall, arrange them in several groups.

Pearson Survives Votes

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's minority Liberal government survived two more votes of no-confidence Tuesday night.

It was a small revolt in the House of Commons over farm policies in eastern Canada, such as dairy subsidies and the use of fertilizer, and posed no real threat to the government.

The first motion, introduced by the Conservatives, was defeated 134-95, with the help of the Social Credit and New Democrat parties.

The second motion, introduced by the Social Credit party and supported by the New Democrats, was turned down 208-22.

The liberals command 129 votes against a combined opposition of 136.

Snow Hits Moscow

State Reports 38 New Fires, 4 Are Suspicious

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Reports that some forest fires had been ignited deliberately piled fresh worry today on the small army of men struggling to protect New York State woodlands from the ravages of flame.

Of the estimated 75 fires burning across the state, at least four were "definitely of an incendiary nature," the Conservation Department reported. The department listed at least 38 new fires Tuesday.

And, as tongues of flame licked greedily through wooded sections of Rensselaer County Tuesday night, a county fire official complained, "Someone keeps setting them as fast as we can get them under control."

The Conservation Department held, however, to its count of four incendiary fires in Rensselaer County, pending investigation.

The fires crackled over hundreds of acres on the Taconic Mountain range near the New York-Massachusetts line.

All appeared to be under control today.

Today's Business Mirror

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Oil companies have been in the business of taking something—petroleum — out of the ground. Now they're going into the business of putting something back—fertilizer.

Involves Millions

A rush is on by major oil companies to get into the chemical fertilizer business. It involves investment of hundreds of million of dollars.

The oil companies feel it is a natural avenue of diversification. For one thing, their by-products, such as ammonia, are used in producing fertilizer.

Some big deals have been brought off recently and others are cooking.

Socony Mobil Oil Co. stockholders will meet Nov. 20 to vote on the proposed acquisition Corp. for an $80 million in stock.

Cities Service Corp. acquired Tennessee Corp., owner of valuable Florida phosphate lands, last June.

The consolidation of Continental Oil Co. and American Agricultural Chemical Co., is pending.

Urgent Role Cited

The oil companies have come to the conclusion that in an ever more populous world where cultivated land will have to produce more and more food, the role of fertilizers, and other agricultural chemicals, becomes obviously urgent.

They are backing with big money their opinion that they are well-suited to fill that role.

The waive of oil company acquisitions of independent fertilizer producers has aroused the interest of the government's antitrust officials.

They are concerned by such a sudden increase in industrial concentration and are apprehensive that the trend might put the remaining independent fertilizer companies at a sharp disadvantage with the well-financed oil company subsidiaries.

Justice Department lawyers are taking a look at the pending acquisition proposals with the idea of stepping in if it is thought that they might tend to reduce competition and thus violate the antitrust laws.

Kerhonkson

Sisterhood of the Kerhonkson Synagogue will hold a dinner dance at the Brookside Hotel on Saturday evening, Oct. 26. Preceding the dinner, a Smorgasbord and cocktails will be served; dinner afterwards.

Chairman of the affair is Mrs. Seymour Pacht; co-chairman, Mrs. Steven Shabanowitz.

The next regular meeting of the Kerhonkson Sisterhood will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 8.

The Rochester Democratic Party will hold its rallies on October 20 at the Granite Hotel at which time there will be an ice show. Refreshments will be served. U. S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau will be the guest speaker. The second rally will be on Saturday, Nov. 2 at the Pine Grove Hotel. Entertainment and a buffet supper is planned.

The Kerhonkson Jewish Youth members held their first meeting of the season on Monday evening at the Kerhonkson Jewish Center.

South Didn't Like North's Heart Jump

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's jump to four hearts was a distinct overbid and South was not at all pleased with the contract. But things started out fairly well because West opened the king of diamonds and shifted to a club. East's king fell to South's ace and dummy was entered with the ace of spades.

A low heart dropped the queen from East and West won South's king with the ace. West led back a spade and South went right up with dummy's king. West had dealt and passed and had already hown up with the ace and king of diamonds and the ace of hearts. There was no possibility that he would also hold the queen of spades.

South drew West's last trump, cashed his queen of clubs, ruffed his last club in dummy and threw West in with the ace of diamonds.

West did not have another spade and had to lead either a club or a diamond. Either one allowed South to ruff in dummy and discard his last spade.

South had played the hand very well and had been fortunate to find that West held only two spades to start, but he had been really lucky in his choice of defenders. West should have cashed his ace of diamonds before leading that last spade, whereupon there would have been no way for South to put him in the lead.

WASHING DISHES BEFORE GUESTS LEAVE

Q: At a recent bridge club meeting held at my house, after the guests had finished their coffee and cake, I proceeded to clear off the table and wash the dishes while they sat and chatted. It was rather late and I wanted to get finished so that I could go to bed as soon as they left. I was criticized for this and was told it was very bad manners. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

A: I'm sorry, but your clearing the table and washing the dishes was very much the same as tell them, "The party is over. Go home."

Inviting Shower Guests To Wedding

Q: I am going to be married soon in church with a reception following for about 75 guests. A shower was given for me last week and several of the guests at this shower are not among those I planned to invite to the reception. Am I obliged to include them? I have been told that all those who were at the shower must be invited to the reception.

A: If you possibly can, you should invite to the wedding all those who were kind enough to bring you shower presents. If the reception has to be limited, these friends will surely understand and not feel slighted if they cannot be invited.

A House Wedding

Q: The daughter of a business associate of my husband's is going to be married next month. The wedding is to take place at home. We received an invitation but there was no mention of a reception, although I understand there is to be one. Do we take it for granted that we are to stay on after the ceremony?

A: When a wedding takes place at home, all the guests are expected to remain for the reception.

On Sunday, Oct. 6 at 2 p. m. marriage vows were exchanged by Susan E. Harris and Francis P. Florio Jr., both of Saugerties. The wedding ceremony took place in St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, with the Rev. Joseph Hamilton officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Harris of 9 Center Street, Saugerties. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Florio of Washington Avenue, Saugerties.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of pure silk organza posed over bridal taffeta fashioned with a circlet neckline, fitted bodice, long sleeves and a full hooped skirt in chapel length. The bodice and skirt were accented with appliqued Chantilly lace and sequins and the meline and train featured organza ruffles in triple tiers. Her veil of wide French illusion was held by a cap of seed pearls, lace and rhinestones. She carried a cascade of white orchids.

The bride's uncle, Arthur Schoen, was soloist. Guest organist was Mrs. Aleksander Narel of West Hurley.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Thomas Macarille of Ravena, N. Y., served as matron of honor. She wore a gold peau satin full length gown with a detachable walteau. It featured a Florentine neckline and bracelet sleeves. A matching cluster of flowers with a short bouffant veil and white gloves completed the outfit. She carried a cascade of fall colored mums.

Other attendants included Miss Linda Harris of Saugerties, sister of the bride; Miss Jeanne Melius of Glenmont, N. Y., cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Connie Martin of Saugerties, cousin of the bridegroom. Their gowns were identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant except in willow green.

Thomas Macarille of Ravena was best man for his brother-in-law. Ushering were John Harris of Saugerties, brother of the bride; Warren Mickle of Connecticut; and Connie Martin of Saugerties.

A reception was given for 125 guests in the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saugerties. Afterwards the couple left for the Pocono Mountains. For traveling the bride wore an olive green wool suit with olive green accessories and a white orchid.

Mrs. Florio was graduated from Saugerties High School and the Colonna School of Cosmotology in Albany. She also studied at Charles of the Ritz, New York City, and is now employed at Joseph's Beauty Salon in Saugerties. Her husband, an alumnus of Saugerties High and Hudson Valley Technical School, Troy, is employed by IBM in Poughkeepsie.

Accord Student Is Named Delegate to Science Conference

Joseph Freedman, a 17-year-old honor student and school leader at Rondout Valley Central School, has been selected as one of three student delegates from the Mid-Hudson Valley to the fifth annual National Youth Conference on the Atom to be held in Chicago next month according to J. Ernest Doolittle, vice president of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation.

Mr. Freedman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freedman of Accord, will be accompanied by Armand Decker of Kerhonkson, physics teacher at the school. The Rondout Valley senior was selected, along with students from Red Hook Central School and Newburgh Free Academy on the basis of an essay contest on the topic, "Peacetime Uses of the Atom," in competition with students nominated by their principals as the outstanding science students from each of 23 Mid-Hudson Valley high schools.

The aim of the Conference is to present to more than 500 of the nation's outstanding science students and teachers, an authoritative picture of the peacetime uses of the atom in all its applications and to advance the study of science in the nation's schools. The trips of the student and teacher delegates are being sponsored by more than 60 investor-owned electric utility companies.

Mr. Freedam is vice president of the student council, a member of the student court and of the National Honor Society. He was county winner of the American Legion Oratorical Contest, participated in the school band and was named to the area All-state Band. He plans to enter college next year and to study history and government.

Judges for Central Hudson's essay contest were Dr. John H. Jacobson, professor and chairman of the English Division and Dr. Gerson B. Robison, professor of mathematics of State University College of Education at New Paltz.

Today's Frozen Foods

In less than a generation, frozen foods have grown from an uncertain infancy to a multi-million dollar industry deeply influencing our buying habits, Acting Secretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy recently stated. Today's frozen food industry accounts for more than 7 million pounds of food with an estimated retail value of some 4,000 million dollars. The growth of the frozen food industry has affected the food production, marketing, and consumption patterns of our nation, and to a lesser extent, that of the world, says Louise M. Kakargo, assistant home demonstration agent.

Freezing food to preserve it has long been practiced, but widespread commercial use awaited scientific discoveries and equipment development. About 1865, fish was frozen on a small scale commercially, primarily to preserve it during transportation.

Also during the latter part of the 19th century small amounts of meat, poultry, and eggs were frozen commercially. Early in this century frozen small fruits were used in the manufacture of preserves, but it was not until the discovery of the necessity for enzymatic inactivation that it was possible to freeze vegetables. This happened about 1929.

From foods frozen by the natural cold of winter weather, methods have progressed through the salt and ice phase and the early ammonia type refrigeration to recent freezing methods that make use of liquefied nitrogen. Too, special varieties of fruits and vegetables have been developed, as have materials for packaging.

In addition to improving freezing methods, packaging materials, and products, the industry has developed new storage, transportation, and retail display facilities to make frozen food widely available to the average consumer.

Though a bit slow to accept frozen foods, consumers now often use them. The 1955 consumption study made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture showed that during 1 week over 30 per cent of all households had used frozen vegetables, 9 per cent had used frozen fruits, and 23 per cent had used a frozen juice concentrate. The yearly per capita consumption of frozen fruits, juice, and vegetables has increased about 19 times since 1937—from an average of less than 1 pound per person in that year to 19 pounds in 1961.

The large size polyethylene bags used to package frozen products as individual units continue to gain more space in the frozen food display cases since their introduction a year or so ago. Most prominent are the vegetable packs, though fish (shrimp), fruits, and bread products are also available as individually frozen pieces in the large size bags. Users can easily remove the amount needed, and then return the remainder to the freezer while it is still frozen. Products frozen in blocks need complete thawing before they can be divided easily.

A recent U. S. Department of Agriculture study shows that most frozen food items are higher in cost to consumers than those prepared at home, but there are exceptions. Frozen orange juice concentrate cost less than half as much as its home-prepared counterpart, according to the study. Other foods examined that cost less than the home-prepared were frozen peas, lima beans, cut corn, and spinach. Consumers are no doubt aware of the price advantage of large volume frozen products. Items produced in large volume are relatively inexpensive — as volume increases, the cost per unit tends to go down.

Not only will it pay the consumers to check costs among different styles of a food, but checking costs between sizes of a given style, such as the frozen, may also be advantageous. Normally the large size pack will be less expensive per ounce or pound, but not always. Special price offerings sometimes change the cost relationships.

Off-Campus Course Will Be Offered On World Fair Site

Formal education and the New York World's Fair 1964-65 joined forces today to provide qualified students, labor leaders, corporation personnel and teachers the opportunity to attend class on the Fair grounds and receive graduate credit for their work.

Dr. Paul Dawson Eddy, president of Adelphi University, Garden City, L. I., N. Y., announced that a decision had been reached for Adelphi Business Intitute to provide a Workshop in Enterprise Economics in the Hall of Free Enterprise pavilion for the duration of the Fair.

In announcing the decision, Dr. Eddy said he believed that "this is the first time an accredited college or university has sponsored an academic project at a world's fair. We look upon it as an educational resource too important to miss," he added.

In addition to the regular Adelphi faculty, outstanding economists have been invited to lecture in the course.

The material presented by these visiting experts will be published as a collection of readings on enterprise economics.

Approved by the State University of New York as an off-campus course, Enterprise Economics, B.A. 204-0, will cover supply and demand analysis; demand functions; cost functions; the concepts of marginal analysis and profit maximation as guides to better decision-making by management; cost factors that influence the location of plants; price theory and practice and industy economics.

In speaking of Adelphi's academic participation in the Fair, Dr. Eddy said:

"Important in our decision to offer Enterprise Economics at the Fair is the fact that the Fair Corporation itself is a striking example of the American Economic system in action. The Hall of Free Enterprise offers an ideal location for the workshop. Located all around it are the multimillion dollar pavilions built by the industries which have flourished under the American free enterprise system."

The Hall of Free Enterprise is sponsored by the American Economic Foundation, a non-profit, non-endowed research and education foundation. Supported entirely by voluntary, tax-deductible contributions from individuals, corporations and other foundations, the Hall of Free Enterprise is the first exhibit in history designed to dramatize the workings and benefits of the free enterprise system.

Leading citizens from 41 nations have endorsed the principles which will be taught in the Hall of Free Enterprise; they are members of the International Advisory Council, of which the three former U. S. Presidents, Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower are honorary chairmen.

"Over each half-year period of the Fair," Dr. Eddy said, "Adelphi expects to conduct, in cooperation with the American Economic Foundation National Schools Committee for Economic Education, 26 two-week workshops. The same course will be given twice each day to permit qualified students to be accommodated. Acadameic credit will be given for satisfactorily completed work."

Dormitory space will be available on the Garden City campus to accepted students and their families at a modest cost.

Linda Marie Lee Weds Edward Osterhoudt; Ceremony in Federated Church, Kerhonkson

Miss Linda Marie Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin John Lee of Kerhonkson, exchanged marriage vows with Edward Percy Osterhoudt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Osterhoudt of Hurley on October 12.

The wedding ceremony took place in the Federated Church of Kerhonkson with the Rev. Paul Babich officiating. A reception was given afterwards in the church hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of Chantilly lace and silk over bridal taffeta. The gown was fashioned with a portrait neckline, fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant skirt worn over a hoop. Her veil of imported silk illusion was shirred to a lace cap accented with crystals and seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Norma Jane Quick of Kerhonkson was the maid of honor. She wore a turquoise blue satin faced gown styled with a rounded neckline, empire bodice and dome-shaped skirt. A matching stylized cap of seed pearls held a short flirtation veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaids gowns were identical except in samoron rose color. Serving as bridesmaids were Marlene Stoddard of Kerhonkson and Holly Lindgren of Accord.

Chester Graves of Poughkeepsie was best man. Ushering were William Robinson of Stone Ridge and Joseph Hasbrouck of Hurley.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Paul Babich.

The bride was graduated from Rondout Valley Central High School. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School. Mr. Osterhoudt is self-employed in the construction business.

For her trip to Florida, the bride wore a red sheath suit with black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Osterhoudt will reside in Accord when they return.

THE CLOTHES POLL

by Helen Hennessy, Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

The hostess at a holiday party this year may wear a floor-length empire costume in a wild print of bold colors, yet greet her guests with baby talk. This costume, you see, starts with size 2.

The new at-home clothes have captured feminine hearts as a refreshing change from the daytime sportive look. And you can't deny the latest style to a fashion-conscious gal simply because she's no taller than the umbrella stand, even on tiptoe.

The holidays will be a glamorous time for les enfants. Anything mom can wear, they can wear, too.

The long jumpsuit, a favorite among the ladies in satin, silk and even fur, comes in red and white quilting for moppets (with a hidden drop seat).

If you read, "Miss Susie Brown entertained at home in pink velveteen culottes and a white eyelet shirt," don't rush out to duplicate that smart ensemble unless you, too wear size 3.

A long black mohair skirt with bib front, to be worn with a red and white checked shirt has been designed by Scaasi, not for the young matron, but for little women 7 to 14.

The youngsters will sweep into the holiday festivities as elegantly attired as their mothers. The party dress is outmoded for at-home entertaining among the sophisticated small fry.

But at least there aren't any diminutive smoking jackets yet. So you can still separate the men from the boys.

Chic Chat

Q—I am 40 and will be married in December. It will be my second marriage. I have a slim figure and look young for my age. We will have an afternoon wedding and a small reception. I known I can't wear a bridal gown but certainly want to look like a bride. What kind of costume would be correct for me? —Ruth N.

Dear Ruth N. — Your best choice would be a dressy street-length dress or suit in a light shade of silk. If beige is becoming to you, it would be an excellent selection. Gray, too, will be a favorite this winter. A small hat the same shade as your dress would be correct. Your shoes and bag could match your costume or you could choose them in black.

If your dress is beige, your gloves should be the same shade. With a gray dress, white gloves would be right.

Contracts Already Awarded Nuclear Unit Being Built

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The sprawling nuclear - fuels reprocessing center under construction in Western New York already has contracts to perform $60 million in services for five utilities that operate atomic power stations.

Gov. Rockefeller revealed this today in announcing also that final contracts between the state and the private developer had been signed for construction and operation of the $28-million center.

The privately owned plant, scheduled to begin operations by the end of 1965, will reprocess nuclear fuels for use in peacetime industrial pursuits.

Construction on a 3,300-acre site in the town of Ashford, Cattaraugus County, actually was begun last June, while formal contracts were being processed. Rockefeller broke ground on the site June 13.

Nuclear Fuel Services Inc., a subsidiary of W. R. Grace and Co., will operate the center in cooperation with the State Atomic Development Authority.

The basic contracts signed by Nuclear Fuel and the Atomic Authority provide for construction of the main plant, at a cost of $20 million, and an $8-million complex fuel and waste storage facilities, plus site improvements.

Nuclear Fuel will own the main plant and the authority will own the storage facilities.

The contracts also specify that the company will pay the authority $9.9 million for leasing the reprocessing center to 1980 and an addditional $3 million to $8 million for perpetual care of waste products, depending upon quantity.

Guild Head Raps Mirror for Its Callous Handling

NEW YORK (AP) — The financially distressed New York Mirror has ceased publication after 39 years, and some of its assets have been sold to the New York Daily News.

"It takes everything I've got to keep from crying," said John Hearst Jr., grandson of the Mirror's founder, the late William Randolph Hearst, when the morning newspaper's demise was announced last night.

Rumored for Months

"If we could have economized," added Hearst, associate editor of the Mirror, "we would have done it. Most holes have a bottom, but this one did not seem to have any."

The Mirror's last edition rolled off the presses at 2:17 a.m. today.

The death knell had been rumored for months, But yesterday, said a veteran Mirror newsman, the rumors got stronger.

"You could feel it in your bones," he said.

The Mirror had a daily circulation of about 882,000, second only to the Daily News national high of nearly 2 million.

Despite rumors that the Mirror would fold, the confirming announcement at around 6 o'clock last night stunned the paper's employes like a bombshell.

1,400 Out of Jobs

Wilfred Alexander, president of the AFL - CIO American Newspaper Guild's New York local and shop steward of the union's Mirror unit, read the announcement to 75 editorial employes in the city room. He criticized what he termed the "callous and cold-blooded way this was kept from you."

About 1,400 employes lost their jobs. The Mirror said it would distribute in excess of $3½ million in severance pay to them and set up an employment office to help them find new jobs.

Walter Winchell and at least a half-dozen other Mirror columnists will appear in the afternoon New York Journal-American, also owned by the Hearst Corp.

The Hearst Corp. said in announcing the Mirror's sale:

"The name, goodwill and other intangible and physical assets of the Mirror have been sold to the New York News."

Mum on Purchase Price

No purchase price was disclosed.

"The circumstances which forced the Hearst Corp. reluctantly to take this step are the same that have necessiated the discontinuance of so many other good newspapers all over the country," the announcement continued.

"Costs have risen far in excess of revenues and have created substantial deficits over an extended period of time. The recent prolonged newspaper strike aggravated the already serious problems of the Mirror."

Racial Strife At-A-Glance

Nabbed After Chase

Accused of stealing a car from Canaan, Conn., early today Lawrence Edward Chipchase, 20, of Bedford Village, was apprehended after a police chase through Northern Dutchess County to a point near Claverack, Columbia County. During the pursuit along highways north of Millerton, the allegedly stolen vehicle sideswiped a car operated by Connecticut State Trooper Robert E. Boyden of Troop B, Canaan. The trooper escaped injury.

SIC Told T-Men Got Names of Gamblers

NEW YORK (AP) — A New Rochelle city councilman says he turned over a list of gamblers' names to U.S. Treasury agents when he was mayor of the community because "I did not have confidence in the local police."

The testimony by George Vergara, mayor from 1956-60, was offered Tuesday as the State Investigation Commission resumed its public hearings into gambling and local law enforcement in Westchester County communities.

Another witness, New Rochelle Patrolman Salvatore Quadrochi, 43, a member of the force for 17 years, testified he twice had seized numbers game slips from a runner for the "Mister Big" of the racket but each time failed to make an arrest.

Quadrochi said he discarded the evidence each time because he was "afraid" to take further action.

Other highlights of testimony before the commission Tuesday:

The operator of a one-chair shoeshine stand in New Rochelle said he had been paid a salary of $70 a week and took in bets of more than $100,000 a year. The "shoeshine" man, Alphonso Cialleia, said he took numbers bets for Joseph Calandruccio, alias Joe Cal.

Wilbur Kittle, 59, a New Rochelle taxi fleet owner, admitted taking numbers bets for 12 years but was never arrested by local police.

He said he paid New Rochelle Detective George M. Straehle $20 to $25 "two or three times a year," meeting him at night at the railroad station in Pelham. Kittle said he also gave Straehle similar amounts for the detective's partner, Jack Murray.

Straehle, a member of a three-man vice squad, admitted to the meetings with Kittle but denied receiving money. He testified he used Kittle as "an informer" on nongambling crimes and had met him out-of-town to "protect him" as a tipster.

Kittle said he operated as a numbers taker without arrest until agents of the state commission nabbed him in March 1962.

Vergara said he compiled a list of 116 gamblers when he was mayor but didn't trust local police enough to give them the names.

"Have conditions improved?" he was asked.

"There is no visible evidence of it," Vergara replied.

Woodstock, Wiltwyck Closed; All Other Golf Courses Open

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Daily Freeman Sports Editor)

While grumbling and complaints continued to mount in the Woodstock and Kingston (Wiltwyck Country Club) area, here was the golf course situation at deadline today:

Woodstock Country Club is still closed to play and officials are awaiting a directive from the State Conservation Department.

Wiltwyck Country Club is partially closed, but a makeshift 9-hole layout will be playable, the club president, Dr. George C. Rifenbary, said this morning. He said the temporary course involves holes No. 1-2, 10-11-12-13, 16-17-18.

All golf courses in Dutchess County have been reopened for play. Dutchess courses with the exception of College Hill and Southern Dutchess (Beacon) were closed for just one day.

All golf courses in Columbia County and the Albany area district are open to play.

The Twaalfskill Club which lies wholly within the corporate limits of the City of Kingston was not affected by the state ban. The regulation stipulated that all courses outside the corporate limits of municipalities and incorporated villages were affected by the shutdown.

Regulations Are Rescinded

However, these regulations were quickly eased in Dutchess County.

Dr. Rifenbary said today he had received "numerous complaints and protests" from the Wiltwyck membership.

More than 25 golfers were turned away at Woodstock Country Club yesterday and some traveled to the Catskill Country Club to play a round of golf.

Woodstock golfers who wished to remain anonymous bitterly protested the closing, pointing out that the Woodstock layout represents no greater fire hazard than those now operating. In fact they insisted the hazard at Woodstock was far less.

They noted that the village links are bordered by two main highways (Routes 375 and 212) and the Sawkill creek on two sides and there are three fire companies within five minutes of the golf course.

The Ulster County Welfare Department said that Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons, who is president of the Woodstock Country Club, was out of town today and could not be reached for comment.

Kingston Youth Gaining Wide Recogniton as Karate Star

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

A Kingston youth who is a widely recognized teacher of Karate at Griffis Air Force Base in Rome, A/3C Lawrence Hyatt of Kingston, is about to be released from service.

When Hyatt, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hyatt of Kingston, returns to this city, he will leave behind him a remarkable record as a Karate instructor and performer.

Military and civilian pupils in Hyatt's courses at the Rome air base are taught that the ancient art of self-defense embraces five principles: self control, etiquette, effort, sincerity and character.

"We try to produce better American citizens through constant training, using these principles as our guide," Hyatt says.

Karate means open hand or nothing in hand. According to Hyatt "it is the highest respected self-defense in the world. He explained that in order to obtain a black belt (the highest rank of Karate) it takes a minimum of two-years training. This means three sessions a week of three-hour classes and at least five hours of self training and concentration.

Holds First Degree

Hyatt holds a first Dan (degree) Black Belt in the Karate society which means he has come up through some 10 different degrees or Kuu's and four different color belts. That's a long way from a degree of white belt that can be earned at the end of a beginner's course in Karate.

Hyatt's body has developed to a point where he is capable of dealing a lethal blow, if need be, through the science of Karate. The law recognizes such power and requires persons with a Black Belt to register their fingerprints and footprints in Albany for their own protection in much the same way a gun permit is registered.

"I weighted 242 pounds when I started Karate training," Hyatt told sprotswriter Rocky Palladino (no relation to our Eddie) of the Utica Observer-Dispatch. "After five months I developed my body to 189 pounds." Hyatt learned that Karate not only trims fat but trains a lot of muscle to snap to full strength at the cry of "Kia" the warcry of Karate.

Started in 1959

Hyatt got his introduction to Karate in 1959 while studying Japanese at Waseta University in Tokyo. He met a Japanese student, Shari Kiwakie, who was learning English and the two became close friends. It took him two years of training to develop himself to a point where he could take an examination that qualified him as a teacher of Karate.

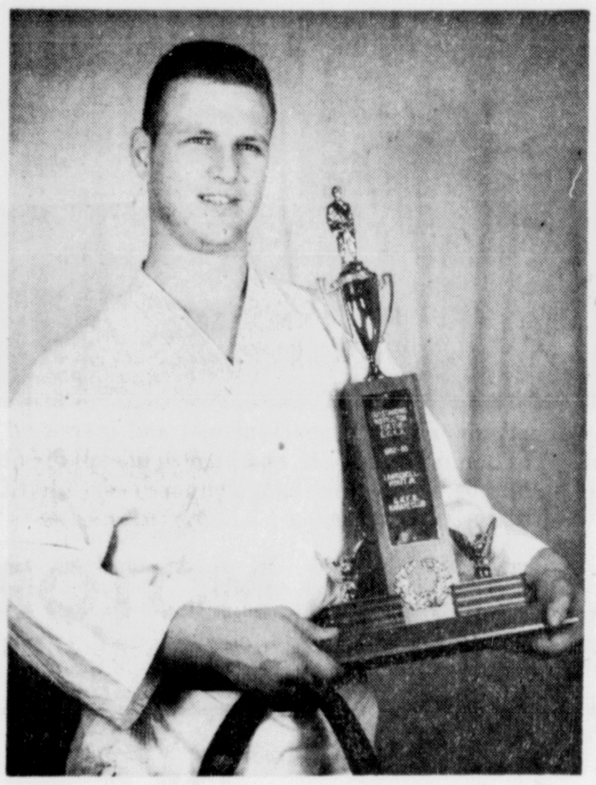

By this time, Kiwakie's family had adopted Hyatt as one of their own and Hyatt's interest in the sport of Karate had grown to the point where he was ready to adopt the philosophy of the art.

Hyatt will go to Japan next year to take an examination for the second Dan of the Black Belt. This will place him only three Dans away from the highest possible Karate degree, the fifth Dan. This is an honorary degree for Karate teaching with 20 to 30 years of constant training.

Hyatt's wife also has become a Karate enthusiast and holds the purple belt (the third belt) and is captain of the women's Karate team at Griffis Air Base.

"I'm lucky to have a wife that is interested in the same thing I am," Hyatt said.

As has been noted, if you ever have the misfortune to find yourself in a barroom brawl and some one suddenly shouts "Kia" (Keeyah), get ready to pick yourself up off the floor.

KARATE AWARD: A/3C Lawrence Hyatt of Griffis Air Force Base (Rome, N. Y.) displays the handsome trophy awarded him by the East Coast Karate Association through Teryukie Okazaki, of Philadelphia, president of the ECKA, for being the outstanding instructor of the East Coast for 1962-63. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hyatt of Colonial Gardens, Kingston.

Arkansas Is Picked Over Texas

HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A normal football season usually is made up of an equal number of hills and valleys. The Texas University team was at the top of the hill last week when it defeated Oklahoma and took over the honor of being rated the nation's No. 1 college team.

Arkansas was down in the valley, dropping its second of the season. The defeat this time was by Baylor and the two setbacks were by a total of five points.

This Saturday Arkansas gets revenge.

That's this week's blue-plate special. Last week's menu almost was devoid of attractions with 34 correct picks and 15 losers for .694. That dropped the season's totals to 143-57 for .715.

Other selections for the coming weekend:

Wisconsin over Iowa: Hal Brandt of the Badgers may not outpitch Fred Riddle of Iowa, but the Wisconsin star will get more help from his teammates.

Pittsburgh over West Virginia: The West Virginians too big for their own good.

Mississippi over Tulane: Tulane has been shut out in three of four games this season while Mississippi's potent defense has held three opponents to only 13 points.

Oklahoma over Kansas: The disorganized Sooners pull themselves together.

Illinois over Minnesota: The surprising Illini display their talents at homecoming.

Georgia Tech over Auburn: Billy Lothridge of the Engineers can run, pass and kick.

Alabama over Tennessee: Both teams were disappointed last weekend but Alabama will recover more quickly.

Navy over Virginia Military: This game features the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk and Roger Staubach is the prize pearl of the Middies.

Northwestern over Miami of Ohio: Tommy Myers finds the range.

Air Force over Maryland: Terry Isaacson is the difference in an aerial battle.

Baylor over Texas Tech: Coach John Bridgers has his pro-style offense clicking.

Duke over Clemson:Duke has found a passer, Scotty Glacken.

Syracuse over Penn State: They'll need a mile of bandages after this bruiser. A hesitant nod to the home team with its power backfield.

Wilkinson Defends Dismissal Of Looney

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma football Coach Bud Wilkinson, obviously upset over charges that he was looking for a scapegoat when he dismissed halfback Joe Don Looney, said "it was just something that had to be done."

Looney said if he had had a good day against Texas, and if Oklahoma had won, "everything would have been okay." And his father, Don Looney of Fort Worth, Tex., a former star at Texas Christian said, "somebody's got to be the fall guy for losing to Texas. I guess Joe Don is it."

Wilkinson disagreed Tuesday. "I don't think Joe Don lost the Texas game for us," Wilkinson said. "No individual is going to lose a game by himself."

Many Incidents

Wilkinson said the decision to oust Looney, who led the nation in punting last season and was fifth in yards gained rushing, resulted from an accumulation of incidents.

But the final decision, he said, came when several team leaders came to his office Monday morning.

"They told me they thought the presence of Looney on the squad was hurting the team," Wilkinson said.

"Until then, I had no intention of kicking Joe Don off the team," Wilkinson said. "But I had an understanding with the team leaders that if Joe Don's attitude became infectious and began hurting the team, he would have to go."

Wilkinson said he had been concerned with Looney's attitude toward practice ever since the 224-pound speedster transferred to Oklahoma from Cameron Junior College at Lawton, Okla.

"I tried to talk him into leaving the team after last season," Wilkinson said. "I told him I didn't think he would be able to make it because of his attitude.

"My biggest regret is that I allowed him to come back to the team this year. But he wanted to come back and I let him. This way, it's harder on Joe Don.

"I'm really sorry for the boy but I had no choice.

"Team morale had ceased to exist. It's awful easy for us to look like villains, but we protected this guy for more than a year and we can't continue to protect one boy at the expense of 55 others."

Uhl's 25 Points Leads Tony's to 64-53 Triumph

Jumpin' Joe Uhl rimmed 25 points and Tony's Pizzeria upset Ray's Tackle Shop, 64-53, in a YMCA A league basketball game last night.

The winners led, 21-9, 31-21, and 40-32, at the quarter stops. Uhl had eight baskets and nine foul tries for his total. Mike Ferraro (16) and Harry Pratt (13) were also in double figures.

Ronnie Scheffel potted 14 points for the losers and John Matthews, the ex-Notre Dame star, finished with 11. Ron Miller also contributed 11 points.

Billy Lothridge Is 'Back of Week'

ATLANTA (AP)—"I don't consider myself doing all the work. It was a great team effort."

So said Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech quarterback who is known as "Mr. Do-It-All" at Georgia Tech because he is one of the few triple-threats in these days of football specialists.

Lothridge was discussing his performance in Tech's 23-7 victory over Tennessee last Saturday, for which he was named Associated Press Back of the Week for the second time in three weeks.

"It's a great honor but I didn't do it all," said the 21-year-old senior. "I had plenty of help."

Against Tennessee Lothridge scored one touchdown, passed 54 yards for another, kicked two extra points and a field goal and averaged 41 yards punting.

Lothridge first earned the honor against Clemson. In that game he accounted for all 27 of Tech's points in the shutout. He threw three touchdowns passes, kicked two field goals and three extra points and kept Clemson backed up to its goal with his punting.

Tech Coach Bobby Dodd considers Lothridge the best quarterback he has ever coached.

"He doesn't do everything perfectly," Dodd said. "But he gets the job done in everything he does. Punting is probably what he is best at. But he's a tough runner and has improved tremendously this year on the option play. His passing is sometimes inconsistent, but when he's right he's a great passer."

Ford Offers Six Million for Lions

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford automobile family's William Clay Ford is laying $6 million on the line to buy the Detroit Lions.

Bill Ford, a scion of the famed auto world's Fords and who is president of the National Football League club, created a sensation at the Lions' directors meeting Tuesday with the surprise offer.

The Lions now are governed by a board of directors responsible to 144 stockholders.

The 38-year-old Ford Motor Co. official—he is a company vice president—is the first member of his family to be a sportsman on a major scale.

William Clay is one of three grandsons of auto pioneer Henry Ford.

Ford's offer to buy came with the Lions struggling to get back on the winning track. The Lions, considered title contenders at the start of the season, have dropped three of their five games.

Katrine Club Postpones Trap Shooting, Hunting

The regular weekly trap shooting at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club preserve in St. Remy, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until further notice.

The closing has been made necessary by the order which has closed all wcodlands. All hunting on the preserve is also suspended until the woodlands are reopened.

Trail Blazing Continues at Hunter Slope

A continuing program of trail blazing and expansion is currently underway at Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl, Hunter, New York. By the time the snow flies, there will be a total of fifteen miles of interconnected slopes and trails, a new tow servicing a new area, and double-sized parking lots to accommodate private cars and tour buses.

The major expansion this summer and fall has been on the West face of the mountain where miles of cross-country trails have been carved out of the solid rock face. Orville Slutzky, general manager of Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl claims he is proud of the work being done. "Our crews have had tough going on that tricky mountain top, but the trails we have created will truly be a challenge for good skiers. We've also expanded our novice and intermediate facilities considerably, and expect to continue our building and grooming until December."

Plastic Slope

Another experiment that has borne fruit at Hunter Mountain is the new plastic ski slope, created by Gene Gillis and used first at Hunter. The slope, which is 1200 feet long and is serviced by a double chairlift boasts a combination trail and slope, as well as a level area for teaching. Since it was opened to the public, last month, curiosity seekers and true skiers alike have tested, and loved the new surface. It is ideal for practice, conditioning or learning, as it duplicates exactly conditions experienced on real snow.

In addition to the new trails, and skiing without snow, Hunter Mountain will also keep its big chair lift operating throughout the Fall season for the benefit of hikers, nature lovers and hunters.

With the addition of the new trails, thousands of acres of previously unreachable woodlands now come into the hunter's ken. Previously posted lands have been opened up to hunters who can ride to the top of the mountain in leisurely comfort.

Unbeaten Delaware Rated Top Small Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Undefeated Delaware, the nation's top scoring small college team and a 61-0 winner over Lafayette last Saturday, was a unanimous choice today as the No. 1 team in balloting for the Lambert Cup, emblematic of Eastern small college football supremacy.

Amherst took over the No. 2 spot with Northeastern third. Trinity is fourth followed by Temple, West Chester State, Bucknell, Springfield, Coast Guard and Bowdoin.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Syracuse University football coach Ben Schwartzwalder is worried about Penn State's "double-barreled attack."

Schwartzwalder sent his charges through their longest drill of the season Tuesday as the Orange prepared for their encounter with the Nittany Lions here Saturday.

He said the long drill was needed because Penn State is the first team with both running and passing strength Syracuse has faced this year.

Colgate Ace Out

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—Colgate University's football team will be without the services of their leading ground-gainer last season when they meet Princeton Saturday.

Jim Heilman of Hanover, Pa., a senior halfback, suffered a leg injury last Saturday against Rutgers and Coach Hal Lahar said Heilman would be out of action indefinitely.

Jim Klein, a junior from Wyomissing, Pa., will start in Heilman's place.

Ace Returns

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Cornell's offense has been shored up with the return of halfback Bryan Westfield to the Big Red's starting football team.

Westfield was in action with the first unit in Tuesday's practice for Saturday's game with Yale.

A 180-pound junior from Ann Arbor, Mich., Westfield had been slowed in recent weeks by a pulled leg muscle. Bob Baker had taken his place.

Celts Coach Says Cousy Will Be Missed

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Damn right we'll miss him," storms Red Auerbach. "How could we not miss him? How do you lose No. 1 and not feel it?"

Auerbach, fiery coach of the Boston Celtics, was replying to the oft-asked question about how the Celtics are going to do without the services of Bob Cousy, the backcourt ace and team leader of the National Basketball Association champions.

Cousy, the Celtics' "Mr. Basketball" and sparkplug of the team that won a record five straight league championships, has retired after 13 seasons.

The absence of the 13-time league all-star, two franchise shifts and a new league commissioner provide a new look to the NBA as the league opens its 18th season.

New look or no, the old question remains: Who's going to beat the Celtics?

Favored Again

They won the Eastern title by 10 games last year and are favored to repeat. Cousy is gone, but the champs still have the great Bill Russell and such standouts as the Jones boys, Sam and K. C., Tommy Heinsohn and Tom Sanders. And they've added backcourt ace Willie Naulls.

Cincinnati is expected to give them the most trouble in the East. Los Angeles, defending division champion and loser to Boston in the final round of the playoffs, is favored in the West.

J. Walter Kennedy, who succeeded Maurice Podoloff as league commissioner, has indicated he will run his nine-team circuit with a strong hand. The first game has yet to be played and he already has assessed Auerbach a $500 fine for a flare-up during an exhibition game.

The new franchises are at Philadelphia and Baltimore. Baltimore, out of the league since the 1953-54 season, took over the franchise of the Chicago Zephyrs, while Philadelphia returns to the league after an absence of one year, taking over the Syracuse franchise.

Maroon Gridders to Play at Port Jervis Friday Night

Shelightner Raps 298-703

A "light" pocket hit on the 12th ball cost Bob Shelightner a perfect game and he had to settle for a 298 solo and a 703 triple last night in the Mid-City Classic league.

Shelightner, a top ranking star for several years, had 11 straight strikes in his first game. "All of them, except for the third frame, were in the 1-3 pocket," he said.

BOB SHELIGHTNER

He said he put the 12th ball down where he wanted it but neglected to give it the usual follow-through. The ball hit light and left the 4 and 5 pins standing.

The 298 solo is high this year in the City Assn. and it is also Shelightner's top effort. His previous best was 279 last season. After the near perfect opener, he added 193 and 212 for a 703 triple, tops in the circuit. It was his fifth career "700" or better.

An oddity is the fact that Shelightner wore a bowling glove for the first time. He threw two practice balls on Lanes 7 and 8 before commencing his first game.

There were several 600s in the league, the highest being a 684 by Harvey Hooker. His Charles Ramsey teammates decked 3063 sticks on solo efforts of 1017, 1029 and 1017.

Raiders Still Unbeaten After Three Contests

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

One of the best Port Jervis football teams in recent years will put its unbeaten record on the line Friday night when it hosts Kingston in a DUSO feature at 8 o'clock.

Heading the Saturday slate is the DCSL meeting at Wappingers Falls between the Indians and Saugerties High.

Other tilts on tap for Saturday are Middletown at Newburgh in the DUSO; Lourdes at Arlington, Beacon at Roosevelt in the DCSL; and Liberty at Onteora, Higland vs. Rondout Valley (Dietz), Wallkill at New Paltz and Pine Bush at Marlboro in the UCAL.

It doesn't happen very often, but Port Jervis will be going into the game as a favorite to beat Coach Bill Hurley's KHS gridders.

Impressive Wins

The Raiders have yet to see league action but their non-league scores have been impressive. They have won, 19-6, over Nyack; 43-6, over Goshen and 24-20, over Brentwood, Long Island.

Coach Joe Viglione, now in his 6th year as head coach, feels this is the best squad he's worked with. Quarterback Ricky Spears of golf fame is the sparkplug of the PJ offense. Spears is a good passer and an equally fine runner.

Halfback Ray Schultz is the other backfield star for the Raiders. He's been a consistently good ground gainer all season.

Leading the light, but fast line is Brian Seeber, an All-DUSO choice last season.

Offensive Troubles

Viglione scouted the KHS-Poughkeepsie game last Saturday and must have been impressed with the good defensive play of the locals. However, the offense had trouble moving the ball against one of the best lines Poughkeepsie has produced in several seasons.

Coach Hurley said the team came out of last Saturday's game in fairly good physical shape. End John Sexton injured a finger on his hand but is expected to start.

Saugerties, which produced its biggest score since starting the school's winning streak 27 games ago, figures to have a much tougher afternoon against Wappingers than it did against Cardinal Farley.

The Falls is a surprising 2-1 in league play, having bowed to Beacon last Saturday. Coach Fred Seither was pleased with the Sawyers' performance against the Cadets but he feels they must be equally as sharp this week.

Wappingers is on the way back after a couple of losing seasons and head coach Ken Linn has led the club to wins over Cardinal Farley and Roosevelt. In addition to Beacon, the other loss was to Poughkeepsie.

Hopes Are Dim

Onteora Central hopes to rebound from a pair of tough losses but hopes don't seem bright against Liberty, the defending UCAL champions and unbeaten to date this year.

Coach Charles B. Witherwax has built a solid defense and an offense that has improved with each game.

Rondout Valley has been somewhat of a pleasant surprise, winning two of three league games. The Ganders will be meeting winless but always dangerous Highland, which has had trouble getting a consistent offense working. These teams will collide at Dietz Stadium.

Pete Ferretti Raps 632 Triple

Pete Ferretti registered a 632 triple in the Plaza Monday Night Mixer. His games were 202, 225 and 205. Marion Sanford paced the distaff side with 543.

Sell 40 Horses For $115,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty horses including the entire eight-horse stable of F. Ambrose Clark of Cooperstown, were sold Tuesday at Belmont Park for a total of $115,500 at the conclusion of a two-day auction conducted by the Fasig-Tipton CO.

Horses owned by Clark, now 83 and for years a prominent owner and breeder, brought $38,-900.

Bold Stroke, a 3-year-old chestnut son of Bold Ruler-Rosa Bonheur 2nd, brought the top price of the day, $10,000. Bold Stroke had won the first race at Aqueduct Monday, and was sold by the Ceedoubless Stable to Billy Haughton, harness racing driver and trainer from Glen Head, N.Y.

Haughton also paid $7,100 for Spring Sun, a 3-year-old colt consigned by Joseph M. Roebling of New Jersey.

Lord Balmoral, a 4-year-old gelding by Dedicate-Brown Sugar, topped the Clark consignment and went for $8,500, second highest price of the day. The buyer was the Paul Jay Stable of Phoenixville, Pa.

Lions Lead League In Ground Gaining

NEW YORK (AP) — Detroit leads the National Football League in total defense and pass defense but the Green Bay Packers are tops in one most important statistic—most opponent fumbles recovered.

The Packers, winners of four in a row since dropping the opener to the Bears, have recovered 12 of 13 fumbles by the opposition.

The Lions have held opponents to 1,148 yards, including 506 from passes.

St. Louis shows the way in total offense with 2,056 yards, including a pacesetting 1,214 yards on passing. Cleveland's running game is the best, thanks to Jimmy Brown, who accounts for 787 of their 1,042 yards rushing, according to league statistics released today.

Elect Willie Pep To Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Pep, a dapper, dandy dancer whose flying hands and feet earned him the world featherweight title and the nickname "Will o' the Wisp," is the latest addition to Boxing's Hall of Fame.

"It is nice news," said Pep when advised of his selection. "I was surprised that I got it now."

Now a sales representative for a radio company in Brockton, Mass., Pep said "I miss boxing very much. It was an exciting life and it gave you a chance to meet a lot of very nice people."

Light-footed Willie, now 41, was one of the fastest, most clever boxers in modern history.

He won the featherweight title in 1942 with a 15-round decision over Chalky Wright in New York, was in military service for two years and retained the crown until the first of his four classic fights with Sandy Saddler.

The lanky Saddler won the first one on a fourth-round knockout in 1948, but Pep regained the title in 1949 with a decision over Saddler. Sandy won the next two on knockouts in 1950 and 1951.

Pep turned pro in 1940 and piled up the amazing record of 62 victories in a row before losing to Sammy Angott in an overweight match. He then won 72 of his next 73 bouts, marred only by a draw.

He was active until 1959 and had an over-all record of 220 victories, one draw and nine losses.

Pep is the 77th member to be named to the Hall since it was formed in 1954. Announcement of his election was made Tuesday by Nat Fleischer, publisher of Ring Magazine and custodian of the Hall.

Quebec Wins, 7-4, Over Hershey Club

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a cakewalk for Quebec's Charlie Hodge, but Ed Giacomin had to do some twistin' in the Providence goal.

The two goalies had completely opposite nights in the nets Tuesday. Hodge had to make only 16 saves for Quebec, which walloped Hershey 7-4. Giacomin had to turn away 59 for Providence, which battled Baltimore to a 2-2 overtime tie.

The Aces controlled play in the first period to such an extent that Hodge was not called on to stop a shot until the middle of the period. Quebec, meanwhile, rapped in five goals in the opening period, by Bob Wall, Cleland Mortson, Terry Gray, Frank Martin and Wayne Hicks.

Hicks also scored for the Aces in the second period as did John Hanna. All the Bears' scores came in the middle period, with Mike Nykoluk, Chuck Hamilton, Roger Dejordy and Gene Ubriacho collecting goals.

Willie Marshall's second goal, with 1½ minutes to play in the third period, tied the score for the Reds. The teams then fought to a standstill in overtime. Brian Hextall and Sandy McGregor scored for the Clippers.

Tonight's schedule shows one game, Providence at Pittsburgh.

Lefever, Henze Plan to Attend Bankers' Parley

Leaders in government, business and industry will be among speakers to address the 70th annual fall convention of the Savings Banks Association of New York State, Oct. 17 through Oct. 23, it was announced today.

Convention sessions will be aboard the S.S. Rotterdam, which will spend Sunday, Oct. 20, at Nassau in the Bahamas.

Among local savings bank officials who plan to participate in the convention are Lloyd R. LeFever, president, and Clifford A. Henze, vice president and treasurer, of the Kingston Savings Bank.

Charles W. Carson, of Rochester, president of the association, will deliver the keynote address of the convention and conduct the business meetings. Convention delegates, according to LeFever, are expected to hammer out a program aimed at providing more and better savings bank services to more of the state's people. Other speakers scheduled to address the group are William S. Renchard, president of the Chemical Bank New York Trust Company; Dr. Forrest H. Kirkpatrick assistant to the chairman and president and director of business research, Sears, Roebuck and Company; U. S. Sen. John G. Tower (R-Tex.), and Rep. Eugene J. Keogh (D-11th Congressional District) of Kings County.

Committee meetings, study groups, workshops, panels and formal discussion sessions are on the convention agenda.

Bloomington Vols Set 20th Dinner Saturday, Oct. 26

Members of the Bloomington Volunteer Fire Department announced today that they will sponsor their 20th annual dinner at 7:45 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 26, in the Alpine Restaurant, DeWitt Lake Road.

Adhering to past custom, the company does not limit the affair to members, but rather offer an invitation to the public. However, dinner officials said, tickets and reservations are limited and those requesting them are urged to do so as soon as possible. Currently, reservations for individuals or group "party tables" may be made at most business places in the Bloomington Fire District, although the company prefers they be made directly through the dinner committee. Charles Peterson and Herb Faurote are serving on the ticket committee. Dancing will follow the dinner.

Meanwhile, company vice president Warren Prandoni said that response from the district to this year's fund-raising appeal has been "very gratifying." He expressed the company's appreciation to its district residents for the way in which they received and praised the newly-installed telephone alarm system. However, Prandoni said, that due to an "overburden of activity" in the department, volunteers have as yet been unable to cover the entire fire district.

"Therefore," he said, "if you reside in the Bloomington Fire District and a fireman has not called at the door to pick up the fund-raising card and to deliver the new emergency phone number, he will do so shortly. To date, the notice applies to the Eddyville, Whiteport, Maple Hill and DeWitt Lake Road areas of the fire district," Prandoni said.

"If you live anywhere else in the district, you were not at home when a volunteer called, to the people that were missed, it would be appreciated if they would contact the fire company and a volunteer will be dispatched," he added.

Pastry with shredded coconut added to it is great to use as the shell for a creamstyle pie filling.

2 Vols Killed On Way to Fire

CANASERAGA, N.Y. (AP)—Two volunteer firemen, hurrying to help extinguish a burning hay wagon, were killed Tuesday when their automobile was struck broadside by a freight train at a railroad crossing in this Allegany County village.

State Police said Edward Ellis, 20, and Willis E. Dailey, 35, both of Canaseraga, were responding to an alarm from the village of Birdsall at the time of the accident. There were no other injuries.

The train dragged the car about 1,600 feet down the track, troopers said. The train was undamaged.

Ellis was a senior in Canaseraga High School. Dailey, a father of nine, was a machinist in Hornell.

A smoked tongue that weighs about three pounds will need almost three hours of simmering.

Barry's Backers Happy About Ike Nod for Hopefuls

WASHINGTON (AP)— A declaration by Dwight D. Eisenhower that every man now being mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination is acceptable to him brought happy smiles today to the faces of Sen. Barry Goldwater's supporters.

The former president previously had expressed some puzzlement as to just where the Arizona senator, a leading contender for the GOP nomination, stood on some issues.

But, it was learned, Goldwater recently had a heart-to-heart talk with Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa.—a session which apparently went a considerable distance toward a meeting of minds.

Goldwater told a reporter that he informed Eisenhower that he would state his views fully on all issues if he formally enters the presidential nomination tourney.

At a festive 73rd birthday party Tuesday night, Eisenhower did not tap anyone for the presidential nomination.

But he said "Let us not concern ourselves too much with differences of thinking among our natural leaders.

"I know of none of the party's presidential possibilities I could not support."

Powers Extended

VIETIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian national assembly extended Premier Souvanna Phouma's extraordinary powers for another year in a brief assembly session today.

Under the special powers, first granted to Souvanna Oct. 7, 1962, he is permitted to rule by decree.

Answers Your Insurance Questions

QUESTION: An insurance agent has been after me to let him make a survey of all my insurance. What's the point so long as I'm sure I'm well protected?

ANSWER: The point is that until the survey is made you are not sure you are well protected. Also the survey will probably show overlapping coverages for which you are paying more than you should.

This public service is our way of advertising. Your insurance questions will be answered without charge or obligation if you'll send or bring them to
